LATE NEWS

Captain Denies SOS As Aid Arrives

NORFOLK, Va., April 8—(UP)—The Coast Guard Cutter Cherokee, sent racing to aid the S. S. John W. Powell reported aground off Hog Island, radioed Thursday that the ship was found cruising toward Norfolk and said the Captain denied having sent for help.

The Cherokee reported the ship was sailing several miles inshore from its designated sea lane.

Coast Guard officers said they received a message earlier Thursday, reportedly from the Powell, which said the liberty ship was aground and fogbound. The Cherokee and another cutter sped down the Virginia coast to assist but the ship's master denied that he called for help.

Sabotage Ruled Out in Greek Train Crash

TRIPOLIS, Greece, April 8—(AP)—Greek military authorities Thursday ruled out sabotage as the cause of the derailment of a security train Wednesday in the Peloponnesus. The train was preceding the Greek Royal Train.

Authorities said a rotten crosstie caused the accident. The locomotive and two coaches overturned and two Greek soldiers were injured.

The Royal Train carried King Paul and Army officials, including Lt. Gen. James A. Van Fleet, U. S. Military Chief in Greece. It stopped just in time to avoid ramming the first train.

Police Rights Challenged by Alabama Reds

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., April 8—(UP)—Alabama Communist Party members Thursday challenged the right of Police Commissioner Eugene "Bull" Connor to jail them for distributing literature and Connor told them to "try me and see."

Sam Hall, Chairman of the Alabama Communist Party, said it is not up to Connor "to say what can or cannot be printed and distributed."

Connor warned Communists Wednesday that they would be jailed on vagrancy charges if they continued to distribute literature.

90 Miles a Month for British Motorists

LONDON, April 8—(UP)—Minister of Fuel and Power Hugh Gaitskell announced Thursday that British motorists will receive enough gasoline to drive 90 miles a month, starting June 1.

There has been no basic gasoline allowance since the pleasure-driving allowance for 270 miles a month was discontinued last Fall as a dollar-saving measure.

Chinese Troops Halt Communist Drive

PEIPING, Friday, April 9—(AP)—Approximately 1,000 Chinese Communist troops were driven back after fighting into the northeast outskirts of Chengteh, capital of Jehol Province, Government Headquarters said today.

Chengteh is 105 airline miles northeast of Peiping. Headquarters reported reinforcements were sent to the area in an attempt to encircle the Communists.

Shanghai press dispatches said fighting was in progress at Lunghwa, only 25 miles northwest of Chengteh.

Communist bands were reported increasingly active around Peiping. Headquarters said attempts by the Communists to cut the railway leading north to Chengteh were frustrated.

27 Aboard Tense As Plane Lands on 4th Try

NEW YORK, April 8—(UP)—Seventeen passengers and 10 crew members aboard an Air France Constellation spent a tense hour and one-quarter over La Guardia Field Thursday while the pilot made four attempts before he brought the big plane down for a safe landing in the fog.

The nose wheel of the tricycle landing carriage refused to lock securely as Pilot Jean Dabry brought the four-motored airliner in after a flight from Paris.

Thrice he made the descent toward the runway only to pull up when the front wheel would not lock. While the plane circled the field again, crew members pumped hydraulic fluid into the leaking nose wheel mechanism. On the fourth try, the plane touched down gently and rolled to a perfect landing.

APRIL SHOWERS TO FORSAKE CITY

April showers will forsake Atlanta today and Saturday, the U. S. Weather Bureau says.

Partly cloudy is the outlook for both days. The mercury will hit 76 today, dip to 54 degrees early Saturday morning, and bounce back Saturday afternoon to 70.

The temperature raced to 82 degrees Thursday on the heels of a 66-degree low.

Union Head Calls Act 'Deliberate'

Elbert Mi Wade, of Madison, driver of an Armour Company truck which allegedly ran over a woman picket Thursday afternoon at the Armour plant in Atlanta late Thursday, was arrested on a warrant charging assault and battery. His bond was set at $500.

The warrant was obtained by Local 111 of the United Packinghouse Workers, CIO, after Edmund Dumas, President of the Local, charged the woman, listed as Mrs. Marie Browder, 40, of 3157 North Austin Ave., Decatur, was "deliberately run down by the driver of the truck." T. E. Compton, Clerk of Fulton Civil Court, issued the warrant.

It was the second alleged case of major violence in Atlanta's three-week-old meat strike. Earlier, a driver for the White Provision Company claimed he had been slugged with a blackjack as he was locking a gate at the White plant.

Meanwhile, Mrs. Browder was under treatment at Grady Hospital for injuries she received when she was struck by a truck. Fulton County Patrolmen J. L. McLendon and W. A. Phillips said Mrs. Browder received back injuries. The full extent of her injuries will not be known until a report is received on X-rays made Thursday afternoon.

According to witnesses, the truck driven by Wade, who was accompanied by A. R. Hambrick, of 1380 McPherson Ave., S. E., struck Mrs. Browder while she was walking picket duty in front of the Armour plant.

Witnesses told police the truck "shoved" Mrs. Browder a distance of 10 feet, knocking her off the sidewalk and propelling her through the Company's gate at 14-16 Brady Ave., N. W.

Officials of Local 111 announced they would bring charges against both Wade and Hambrick. Dumas claimed Hambrick, a retired city policeman, "had urged Wade to drive into Mrs. Browder." Both Wade and Hambrick, however, asserted they had not seen the woman picket and did not know the truck had hit her until they heard screams of other pickets, police said.

In Washington Thursday, President Truman indicated action would be taken soon to end the three-week-old meat strike.

A report that paves the way for the Government to act was turned over to Mr. Truman Thursday. The three-member Inquiry Board created by the President March 15 reported on issues of the CIO packinghouse workers' strike, which has idled between 60,000 and 80,000 workers in 138 plants of major packers and independents.

Atlanta police disclosed an earlier case of violence in the strike here involved a driver for the White Provision Company, R. J. Edge, who claimed he had been slugged with a blackjack as he was locking a gate of the White plant.

The Company has offered a $250 reward for arrest of Edge's assailant.

Police also are currently investigating reports that some persons had poured kerosene over meat belonging to some of the struck firms.

AN EDITORIAL

Let's Have the Facts

An assistant in the office of Paul Webb, Solicitor General of Fulton County, has resigned, accusing the Solicitor of demanding that all employees in his department contribute 10 percent of their salaries to his campaign fund.

The Solicitor denies the charge, denouncing it as a political attack from one who was about to be asked to resign.

The Constitution long has deplored the ease and facility with which government is presented to the public in a dubious light by quarreling political factions. We know that such charges and countercharges have the effect of undermining confidence in government and consequently are inimicable to good government.

Therefore, we urge the Grand Jury to call before it all parties involved in the present controversy, getting from them statements under oath so that the truth may be made known.

If Mr. Webb is guilty, he deserves public condemnation.

If the charges against him are false, he deserves support and protection against them.

The interests of the public demand that this be taken from the field of political controversy into the field of fact.

Webb's Staff Refutes Charge of 'Donations'

The 18 members of Sol. Gen. Paul Webb's staff Thursday repudiated a charge by Albert Lyon, staff investigator, who had just resigned, that they were being forced by Webb to contribute to his campaign for re-election.

"I deny every allegation," said Webb. "This is purely politics as everyone will readily recognize. We are all happy that Lyon has resigned."

Paul Webb

The statement of the staff read:

"We, the following members of the Solicitor General's office of Fulton County hereby certify under our names and signatures that Sol. Gen. Paul Webb has never at any time, nor on any occasion, forced any of us to pay any sum for the purpose of advancing his race for Solicitor General, and all sums we have paid have been freely and voluntarily by each of us.

"The truth is that Mr. Webb distinctly stated that our jobs were not dependent upon this and Mr. Webb has never asked or suggested that any of us make a speaking engagement for him, or make any political errand over the county on county time, or at county expense. It has always been customary to contribute to campaign expenses where this office was involved and we are happy to do so now.

"This office is being run as efficiently now as it ever has been and we cordially invite any member of the public to visit this office and examine the work that is being done for a complete answer to the slanderous statements made by Mr. Albert Lyon."

Signing the statement were Carl B. Copeland, Charles S. Stewart, Calvin Cole, J. L. Benton, R. S. Lowrance, Frances K. Blackmon, Irvin O'Shields, Charles O. Murphy, Frank S. French, William Hall, Lewis W. Clyburn, Jr., B. P. Coker, Loy W. Milam, Lora Paschal, Jo Baker, William L. Boyd, C. E. Presley and Joe Mansell.

In his letter of resignation to Webb, Lyon, long an investigator on the Solicitor General's staff, having served under former Sol. John A. Boykin and former Sol. E. E. Andrews, said in part:

"Since you were appointed to

Thompson 'Pressuring' --Talmadge

Herman Talmadge charged—and Acting Gov. Thompson Thursday night promptly denied—that the Acting Governor is using "coercion in the rankest form to get State employees to work for Thompson's election as Governor."

Talmadge claimed that Thompson sent letters on his campaign stationery to foremen of State Highway maintenance and repair crews asking if they would do some "specific work" for him.

Thompson declared he is seeking the support of State employees as well as non-State employees, but promised that no one will be fired for refusing to support his candidacy.

Talmadge charged that the "specific work" undoubtedly involves political activities.

"Since Thompson is director of the State budget and has the power to cut these men off the payroll, they face the choice of either complying with his 'invitation' or being fired," Talmadge observed.

"It is the same as getting an invitation from your commanding officer—you know better than to turn it down."

Thompson said no coercion was "implied or intended" in the letters. He added that the letters were sent without cost to the taxpayers.

"The campaign is not too far off," Thompson said when contacted in Rome Thursday night. "The opposition ran in 1947. It is our time to run in 1948. We've begun soliciting support from our friends. We will continue to do so. We will

Both Jews, Arabs Bar UN Truce

By The Associated Press

Abdul Khadar Husseini, veteran Arab guerrilla leader and kinsman of the former Jerusalem Mufti, was reported killed Thursday night in hand-to-hand fighting near the Palestine capital.

Meanwhile, in New York, the Security Council's hopes for a truce to end Palestine fighting dimmed as both Arabs and Jews refused to yield in their demands before the Council.

Representatives for the Jewish Agency for Palestine and the Arab Higher Committee stymied truce plans after their second informal session with Dr. Alfonso Lopez, of Colombia, President of the UN Council.

HUSSEINI

Dr. Lopez told newsmen after the talk that the "prospect is not as favorable as I had anticipated."

He said he would consult informally with other Council delegates and would advise the Jewish and Arab representatives whether he would see them again Saturday.

Arab informants in Jerusalem said Husseini was killed by gunfire Thursday night while storming a house in the Jewish-seized Arab village of Kastel, eight miles west of Jerusalem.

The status of the Kastel battle was in dispute.

The Arabs said they had recaptured the strategic village on a hilltop along the Jerusalem-Tel Aviv Road, while a Haganah spokesman admitted some Jews

Ex-King Mihai Praises Democracy of U. S.

NEW YORK, April 8—(AP)—Former King Michai, of Romania, said Thursday that if people abroad could see democracy in operation here as he had "things would be much better all over."

The former monarch and his mother, Queen Helen, left by plane for London. He insisted that he did not know when or where his wedding to Princess Anne of Bourbon-Parma would take place.

"I wish lots of other people abroad would know what's going on in America," he told interviewers. "This was my first trip, and I couldn't see enough. I was impressed by the kind of life and liberty here."

Okefenoke Farmer Beats Wife To Death

FOLKSTON, April 8—(UP)—A 50-year-old Okefenokee Swamp farmer was arrested Thursday on charges of beating his wife with his fists, a hoe handle and a gambrel stick, then leaving her nude on their back porch where she died.

Sheriff J. O. Sikes said Lennie Howard admitted killing his wife, Mrs. Ada Petty Howard, 45.

Sikes said Howard placed her nude body in his one-horse wagon, covered it with a quilt and drove to a near-by turpentine still. He tried to get Negro workers to help bury her.

The Sheriff said Howard claimed at first that a storm had flattened his four-room house in the edge of the swamp, killing his wife.

Flooded roads kept Sikes from reaching the isolated dwelling until noon Thursday. He said he found the house standing. Blood spattered the floor of all four rooms and three beds, the Sheriff said, as if the woman had been chased from room to room.

He said Howard finally ad-

Mangrum's 69 Paces Masters' Tilt With One-Stroke Lead Over Field

By BERT PRATHER
Constitution Sports Writer

AUGUSTA NATIONAL GOLF CLUB, April 8—Lloyd Mangrum, pro-golf's leading money winner this season and one of the pre-tournament favorites, registered a three-under par 33—36, 69 to take a one-stroke lead at the end of the first 18 holes on play in the Twelfth Annual Masters Golf Tournament here Thursday.

The slim Chicagoan who represents George May's famed Tam O' Shanter Club, had five birdies, 11 pars and was one over on the twelfth and fourteenth holes.

After his sizzling three-under 33 on the front side, it looked like he might encounter difficulty as he turned for home. His tee shot on the tenth hooked into the woods. On his second shot, the ball struck a limb; but his third was a beauty landing 12 feet from the pin, from where he promptly rammed it down for his par four. The hole, a 465-yard layout, is described by the players in the tourney as one of the toughest on the course.

Lloyd was trapped on the eleventh and dropped a stroke to par. On the long 480 yard par five thirteenth he missed scoring an eagle by an eyelash. A seven-foot putt just refused to drop. Two other nice putts, an eight-footer on nine and a ten-footer on No. 1 did drop, however for birds.

Mangrum, whose money winnings total $11,454, has three tournament wins to his credit this sea-

TRUMAN'S NEIGHBOR CITES 'WITNESS' OF POWER

'Faith Healer' Holds Revival Here

By CELESTINE SIBLEY

An old neighbor of Harry Truman's from Missouri checked in at the Biltmore Hotel Thursday, hung up his neat double-breasted gray coat, unpacked his well-worn Bible and got all set for working at a trade which has won him national fame:

Faith-healing.

The Rev. Everett B. Parrott has been a Methodist minister for 25 years and a faith-healer for 15, and he has, as the saying goes, "a witness" that Atlanta is about to see one of the biggest demonstrations of faith in its history.

The witness, which, Brother Parrott explained, is simply a revelation from God like the prophets of old received, promises that the three-week revival meeting which opened Thursday night at the Assembly of God Church, Ponce de Leon and Piedmont Avenues, will expand beyond all bounds and become a community demonstration.

By next Thursday night Brother Parrott expects to begin praying for healing for the halt, the lame and the blind, the diseased and the afflicted and, if he runs true to form, he said, scores of blind will see, the lame will walk, the deaf will hear and the diseased will be cured.

"By your faith . . ."

"It's not my power but God's," the evangelist explained with a quiet Missouri twang in his voice reminiscent of his old neighbor's. "The world is coming again to the kind of faith we had of old. There's a widespread wave of healing sweeping the country—and it's all due to the fact world conditions have driven us back to the faith of our fathers, a strong, healing faith that produces miracles."

Brother Parrott said the healing power which came to him at an old-fashioned revival meeting when "God revealed a better experience than ever I had had," is drawn directly from the scriptures. He quoted specifically James, fifth chapter, fourteenth and fifteenth verses: "Is any sick among you? Let him call for the elders of the church and let them pray over him, anointing him with oil in the name of the Lord. And the prayer of faith shall save the sick, and the Lord shall raise him up."

STEALS LAST GLANCE--THEN BACK TO CELL

Slayer Barred from Seeing Infant

LOS ANGELES, April 8—(AP)—A mother convicted of beating her two-year-old daughter to death was barred forever Thursday from again seeing her month-old son.

The Judge declared: "This baby has the right to grow up and not be treated worse than a cur dog."

The same ban, the Judge ruled, applied to the baby's father.

Shaking with sobs, Mrs. Shirleen Kunin stole a last glance at the baby, Steven Dale, as she was led back to her cell, preparatory to transfer to California's Institution for Women at Tehachapi. She must serve a one-to-ten-year term for manslaughter in the death of her daughter, Denise.

The dramatic custody hearing was held in the Superior Court of Juvenile Judge A. A. Scott, following Mrs. Kunin's sentencing to prison Wednesday—her twenty-fifth birthday.

The baby's father, Lawrence Kunin, 27-year-old Beverly Hills salesman, made a request for custody, telling the Court he could provide a good home. But the Judge retorted:

"This is an unfit home by reason of neglect, cruelty and depravity of the parents. The Court cannot sit idly by, in view of the testimony, and make plans whereby either parent ever has access to this youngster.

MRS. SHIRLEEN KUNIN
"I Loved That Baby. . . ."

"He and his wife are not fit persons to have custody or contact. Personally, I am going to see that she doesn't have that opportunity."

Mrs. Kunin's trial on a murder charge was delayed a month for Steven Dale's birth March 7 in the Prison Ward of General Hospital. She had not seen her son again until Thursday's hearing.

The tot was held in the arms of a near-by woman deputy, who lifted the blanket so Mrs. Kunin could see Steven's face. She made no attempt to approach the child as she was led away weeping.

Witnesses at the wife's trial testified she frequently whipped Denise, once turned a garden hose in the baby's mouth, and several times left the child unattended Thursday, she declared:

"I loved that baby. It wasn't unattended, as they said. I may have been impatient. But I have to live the rest of my life and remember this."

"I hope you'll never forget it," the Judge replied.

Quick Cash Requested by Truman For Expanding American Air Power

WASHINGTON, April 8—(AP)—President Truman Thursday pressed Congress for quick cash to expand American air power and Navy leaders predicted he soon may more than double his demands for funds to build up the nation's Merchant Marine.

The President requested $725,000,000 for the Air Forces. The House Appropriations Committee, calling an immediate special meeting, plans to have a bill ready by next week.

The money is part of the extra $3,000,000,000 sought for the overall defense plan and is for use in the fiscal year beginning July 1.

WASHINGTON, April 8—(AP)—The 46-nation World Monetary Fund and World Bank have agreed to accept Austria as a member country. Austria will be required to put up $5,000,000 in gold and the equivalent of $45,000,000 more in Austian money.

Of the $725,000,000 asked, $195,000,000 would be in cash. The Army would get $135,000,000 and the Navy $60,000,000. The remaining $530,000,000 is in contract authorizations for which money must be furnished later.

Secretary of Navy Sullivan said Mr. Truman will ask Congress for a total of $100,000,000 to meet the shortage of merchant vessels essential to national security. Originally the President asked for $39,500,000.

Sullivan told the House Merchant Marine Committee that if an emergency as great as World WAR II occurred now, the nation would have only half enough ships to carry troops. The cargo ship situation is not as critical, he said.

Most pressing need, he emphasized, is for passenger liners and tankers which can be converted to military service. Today we have only 92 ships capable of carrying men.

And, he said, nothing has developed since the war to "indicate that our military forces will have any less need for aid of merchant ships in any emergency which our generation may be called upon to face."

The plan Sullivan said the President would suggest calls for $90,000,000 in new construction. Sullivan declared employment in shipbuilding industries should be increased from the present 35,000 to between 80,000 and 100,000 workers.

The Senate Armed Services Committee, meanwhile, ground away on its preparedness legislation. The President has asked for both a temporary selective service bill and a program for universal military training.

The Committee began hearings on UMT and the draft, but snowballing demands for a larger air force shunted aside the program.

Now, says Chairman Gurney, Republican, South Dakota, the bill may turn into an air force-draft bill, with UMT ignored. And it may not be ready for a week or two.

The House appeared ready for quick action on both the appropriations request, and a resolution by its Armed Services Committee to boost the Air Force's size from 55 to 70 groups.

The 70-group Air Force—an increase of 15 combat groups—has been the size most frequently mentioned.

Publisher Near Death After Attack

JOLIET, Ill., April 8—(AP)—A former State Legislator, publisher of a newspaper with outspoken political views, was reported near death Thursday from a vicious beating.

William R. McCabe, 65, onetime Will County State's Attorney, was found unconscious Wednesday night on a road near his farm home two miles east of Lockport. His skull was fractured. Two legs and one arm were broken.

"Well, they finally got me," were McCabe's first words on regaining consciousness.

He did not elaborate on who "they" might be. Miss Amelia Zelko, his secretary for 18 years and first person to speak with the injured man, said he had been fighting editorially what he considered a corrupt political setup in the county since 1936.

At St. Joseph's Hospital here, Dr. Frank J. Chmelik said he found what appeared to be bullet holes in both of McCabe's legs. The physician said X-ray pictures would be made to determine if the wounds were inflicted by bullets or some other instrument.

A police guard has been posted at the victim's bedside against the possibility of a second attack.

Police said McCabe told this story:

He left his farm home to meet friends at a Joliet hotel. A short distance down the road, his car was forced to a halt by another automobile containing three men.

Two of the men, both armed, leaped into McCabe's automobile, forcing him between them on the front seat. They beat him with an iron bar or spiked club; then drove about a mile where the beating continued.

McCabe said the men demanded $5,000, and wanted to know if he kept that amount at his farm. He said he didn't have that much, but offered them $35 and a watch. The men then administered a further beating. He lost consciousness.

The attackers apparently were frightened away by an approaching car. Elmer Rowley, Dean of the Joliet Junior College, said he saw the attackers' car drive off. He heard moans and found McCabe unconscious in a ditch.

'Anybody's Convention,' Landon Says of GOP's

WASHINGTON, April 8—(AP)—Alf M. Landon said Thursday the Republican presidential nomination race still was "wide open."

Landon, GOP presidential nominee in 1936 and a Kansas delegate to the Republican National Convention next June, told a reporter Harold E. Stassen had the strength in Wisconsin to beat "a great name like Gen. MacArthur and a well-known figure like Gov. Dewey." But, he added:

"It's anybody's convention. The Republicans have seven or eight strong men—any one of whom would make a goood candidate and a good President."

Seven GOP prospects are entered in next Tuesday's Nebraska popularity preference primary. This will provide the first competive test for Sen. Taft, Ohio. Dewey, Stassen and MacArthur also are entrants. The vote is only advisory.

Nearly complete returns Thursday showed Stassen had captured 19 Wisconsin delegates in Tuesday's primary, and MacArthur eight. Dewey drew a blank.

However, the New York Governor is out in front with 108 of the 305 GOP delegates so far chosen. Stassen is second with 46, Sen. Vandenberg, of Michigan, third with 41, an dMacArthur fourth with eight.

There are 102 uninstructed GOP delegates, over which various candidates have made overlapping claims.

Six more Republican delegates will be picked in South Carolina Friday and another 21 in Virginia Saturday. Maine Democrats will name 10 delegates Saturday.

Next week the Republicans select another 78, and the Democrats 100. The Republicans pick in Illinois, Nebraska and Idaho; the Democrats in Illinois, Nebraska, Tennessee and New York (at-large).

While some politicians are counting MacArthur out of the GOP race, the General himself made a statement in Tokyo which suggested he would await the Nebraska outcome before making any further statement on his candidacy.

He said:

"One of the things which have made our country great is that men may thus freely speak their minds and fearlessly record their individual viewpoints. Let us always preserve it that way."

Lewis Threatened With New Action For Coal Strike Settlement Boycott

WASHINGTON, April 8—(INS) John L. Lewis, facing heavy fines and a possible jail sentence for refusing to halt the coal strike, was threatened Thursday with new legal action for his continued boycott of a settlement conference.

Joseph Moody, President of the Southern Coal Producers' Association, declared that a United Mine Workers protest against participation in the settlement conference is preventing progress and that he will seek an injunction to force negotiations.

The conference was ordered under a Federal Court injunction to settle the pension dispute which caused the 25-day-old work stoppage which now involves 435,000 miners.

Both Lewis and the miners are under order to appear in Federal Court Monday to show cause why they should not be punished for civil and criminal contempt of court in ignoring an injunction to end the strike.

WASHINGTON, April 8 — (AP)—President Truman said Thursday that the Administration is going to enforce the Taft-Hartley Law to the letter in an attempt to end the coal Strike.

In the order issued Wednesday Judge T. Alan Goldsborough also directed Lewis and his Union to state to the Court Monday if they have purged themselves of contempt by stopping the strike.

Meanwhile steel and other industries began drastic production curtailments, causing thousands of layoffs, amid predictions steel would be months "catching up" while a "black market" mushrooms.

Moody said he would file unfair labor practice charges against Lewis with the National Labor Relations Board. Under the Taft-Hartley Labor Law, NLRB is empowered to ask a Federal Court for an injunction to halt alleged unfair labor practices.

The UMW delegation at the settlement conference has contended throughout the two-day sessions that Moody is ineligible to participate because his association was not a signer of the present coal work contract.

Moody, however, declared he has been authorized to represent the Russell Fork Coal Company, of Kentucky, one of the signatories.

LITTLE HARMONY ON KIND OF HARMONY

Atlanta Transit To Study Bus Radio Music Elsewhere

Music is coming to trolleys but Atlanta straphangers are going to have to ride without rhythm a while longer.

Although transit systems in some American cities have installed radio receiving sets in their busses—converting them into sort of self-propelled juke boxes—there is no immediate prospect here for music as you ride.

"We're waiting to see how the plan works out in other places," commented John Gerson, Transportation Manager of the Georgia Power Company.

J. C. Steinmetz, President of the Suburban Bus Company, said he had given "serious consideration" to the idea—but added it would be tried experimentally first.

If receiving sets were installed, he said, taste differences naturally would arise among passengers.

"Some would want hot music," he said, "while others would demand soap operas or who-dunits."

And that's about what is happening in Washington, D. C., where the Capital Transit Company has installed FM radio receivers on one bus line and one streetcar line.

A poll of passengers showed that 92 percent favored the radio idea, but they weren't in harmony on the type of harmony.

"Waltzes preferred" — "Boogie-woogie" — "No hillbilly music" — "Soothing music." Those were some of the answers.

"Streetcars," said one rider, "have been the only places you don't have to listen to the radio . . . Let's keep it that way."

Another passenger opined:

"I would rather listen to the other people on the bus. They are really funny."

The Washington Company is still mulling over this comment:

"Why not install a bar?"

While at the Mayor's desk, he talked with Acting Mayor Vincent R. Impelliteri about his home town and his trip to New York. Five minutes later he was gone, leaving Impelliteri to his worries over a city bus strike.

State Tourist 'Crop' Put At $23,375,695

Tourists traveling through Georgia will spend $23,375,695 more this year than last year, according to Erle Cocke, Jr., Executive Director of the State Agricultural and Industrial Development Board.

Cocke said occupants of 4,486,135 out-of-State automobiles would spend $105,622,240. He suggested communities alert themselves to this opportunity. Already 16 tourist courts in 10 Georgia communities have received AID Board signs of approval.

Approved facilities are in Baxley, Claxton, Cordele, Jesup, Macon, Savannah, Tifton, Valdosta, Vidalia and Waycross. AID representatives still have two-thirds of the State to cover.

World's Finest Veterinary School Seen by Thompson

ATHENS, April 8—(AP)—Acting Gov. Thompson Thursday broke ground on which the University of Georgia's new million-and-a-half-dollar school of veterinary medicine will be built.

He said in an address preceding the ground-breaking that "the new building and what it signifies is symbolic of a new Georgia. The Chief Executive said the building and facilities which follow are essential to the continued progress of Georgia.

Seated on the platform at the ceremonies which were held on the University's South Campus where the new school will be located, were representatives of the veterinary profession, including officers of the State and national organizations. Members of the Board of Regents and the University of Georgia staff were also present.

Thompson, who appropriated $1,250,900 for the school in August, 1947, and another $359,900 last Tuesday, said the new buildings will be the "finest veterinary school in the world."

He said he was "particularly happy to be able to make the money available because it represents the fullfillment of a commitment that has been made to the people many times and in many political campaigns."

He reminded that the late Eugene Talmadge in his successful campaign for the Governorship in 1946, promised that the veterinary medicine facilities would be established.

Thompson said he feels that in helping to make the school possible, he is "keeping faith with the young men already entered into the study of veterinary medicine at the University, and those who will follow, as well as the people throughout the State who are so vitally concerned with problems which can be solved through a sound program of veterinary medicine."

Work on the building is scheduled to start immediately. The contract was awarded Wednesday to Claussen-Webster, of Augusta.

Rep. Davis Scores 'Reprisal' Threat Of Dairy Lobby

Constitution Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON, April 8 — If supporters of the dairy lobby in Congress seek revenge on Southern representatives who led the anti-oleo tax fight, they will meet strong opposition.

Rep. James C. Davis declared here Friday that Rep. A. H. Andresen, of Minnesota—who reportedly is planning a reprisal campaign against Southern farm legislation—"will find he can't carry the House around in the palm of his hand."

Rep. Stephen Pace, of Americus, said no "vindictive" move by the Committee Chairman or a member could get the support of the Agriculture Committee. Reps. Prince Preston, of Statesboro, and Don Wheeler, of Alma, laughed off the purported Andresen threat.

Patrol C. O. Demoted, J. Q. Davis Given Post

Capt. Howard Henderson, Commanding Officer of the State Patrol, was demoted to sergeant Thursday on orders from Maj. Wayne Hinson, newly appointed Acting Director of the Department of Public Safety. He was ordered to Thomasville as post commander.

Henderson's place was taken by J. Q. Davis, former Department Director, who earlier this week submitted his resignation to the Public Safety Board. Davis was demoted from Major to Captain as the Board had indicated would happen when he resigned.

Hinson said he had relieved Davis of his post as Deputy Commissioner in order to keep Maj. Elbert Forester in that post. Forester will continue his public relations activities, Hinson said.

Shrine Leader To Meet With Temple Here

A farm lad who became leader of more than a half-million men will be entertained by Atlanta's Yaarab Temple at luncheon today and a dinner tonight.

Karl R. Hammers

Karl Rex Hammers, Imperial Potentate of North American Shriners, can draw from experience as a school teacher, minstrel endman, and association with the H. J. Heinz Company's public relations department since 1909 as a background for his present duties.

Traveling 87,000 miles since last June, the 63-year-old leader has visited 104 out of 159 Shrine Temples in the United States, Hawaii, Canada and Mexico. Several thousand miles from now he plans to complete the circuit and return to his home in Pittsburgh.

But neither he nor Mrs. Hammers, who is accompanying him on the year's tour, appear tired. They are wrapped up in Shrine work and the message Hammers is bringing to 536,000 Shriners.

Hammers is stressing two Shrine ideals—the joy of living and the joy of doing for others. Close to his heart are the 15 hospitals nis organization maintains for crippled children. He talks enthusiastically of plans for three new hospitals.

"Over 100,000 crippled children have been cured in our hospitals," Hammers commented in his room at the Atlanta Athletic Club.

had been forced out of the village, but said it was not lost.

The Arabs were the first to show their continued opposition to any truce except one of their conditions.

The positions of the contending groups were summed up in brief sentences given to newsmen at UN headquarters in Manhattan.

Jamal Husseini, Vice Chairman of the Arab Higher Committee for Palestine, declared:

"We cannot and never will recognize the Jewish Agency for Palestine."

Moshe Shertok, head of the Political Department of the Jewish Agency," declared:

"I do not think there is any bridge."

Dr. Lopez told a news conference that both parties are standing fast on their previously announced positions.

This would mean that the Arabs are refusing to talk about a truce until the United Nations drops the partition plan adopted by the UN Assembly last November; that the Jews will not talk about a truce unless it is discussed within the general framework of partition.

Lopez conferred with Husseini one hour and 55 minutes and with Shertok one hour and five minutes.

this position about one year ago after having been a citizen of this county only about one year prior to your appointment, I have been aware of a noticeable deterioration in the type and quality of work being done by this office for the people of the county.

"This knowledge has spread beyond the circle of employees in the courthouse and is now general knowledge all over the county. I attribute it to several things. Several months ago when all the employees were made aware that each of them was to contribute 10 percent of his salary each month to defray your campaign expenses in the ensuing campaign I felt that such a practice on the part of the Solicitor General was not consonant with sound public policy. But I had no alternative than to contribute as the others did.

"All the investigators have automobiles the expenses of which are paid by the taxpayers of the county. It was rather shocking to me that we were encouraged to ride over the county at the expense of the taxpayers and talk politics and get speaking engagements for you. I avoided doing this and found that I lost favor with you for my refusal to do so. The government is highly expensive to the taxpayers and I do not believe it is morally right for me to be compelled to pay 10 percent of my salary to a political fund, nor for me to use money of the taxpayers in defraying my expenses on political junkets."

MISS WINFREE GEORGIA'S ENTRY

Miss Dottie Winfree, formerly of Atlanta but now living in Washington with her parents, will be a member of the Queen's Court at the Cherry Blossom Festival in the Nation's Capital.

Miss Winfree is the daughter of Col. and Mrs. D. W. Winfree. She was named to represent Georgia when Miss Martha Brown, of Cartersville, the original entry, was called home due to the illness of her father.

U. S. Faces $90,000,000 Damage Suits

HOUSTON, Tex., April 8—(AP) Uncle Sam was blamed Thursday in the Texas City explosion to the tune of more than $90,000,000 in lawsuits.

Eight suits totaling $55,208,446, including a $50,000,000 claim by the Monsanto Chemical Company, were received here by the Federal district clerk for transfer to Galveston where trial of the cases is scheduled to begin in June.

Monsanto's suit alleged the Government "had knowledge of the potential hazards" of the ammonium nitrate but that it was packed and shipped from Government plants while "innocently labeled fertilizer."

The claims seek damages for deaths, personal injuries, property damage, reimbursement for insurance payments, recovery of profits lost by plant destruction and damage and loss of services of technically trained personnel killed in the disaster.

Texas City officials listed 512 persons killed or missing in the disaster of April 16-17 last year. An estimated 3,000 were injured.

Similar suits already on file at Galveston exceed $35,000,000 while an additional $1,068,450 is involved in suits filed Wednesday in Fort Worth, Oklahoma City and St. Louis.

Attorneys predicted the final figure may exceed the $100,000,000 mark.

British Hint Fighter Escort For Planes

BERLIN, April 8—(INS)—A battle for the Western aerial corridor into Soviet-encircled Berlin shaped up Thursday night. The British hinted they will put RAF fighter planes into the air to protect British transports. The Russians reacted with charges of 20 Western Allied violations of air security regulations. They may clamp curbs on aerial freedom. An American Military Government official earlier warned that the resort to fighter plane escorts "is the surest way to a shooting war."

DeKalb Grand Jury Upholds 'Integrity' of Education Board

The DeKalb County Grand Jury has exonerated the County Bond Commission, Board of Education and Superintendent of Schools of blame in the expenditure of approximately $4,700 of school funds which recently was criticized by State Auditor B. E. Thrasher, Jr., as illegal.

In partial presentments released Thursday, the Grand Jury declared that in the investigation of Thrasher's criticism "nothing has appeared which in any way reflects on the integrity of any member of the Bond Commission, Board of Education, the Superintendent of Schols or any employee."

Furthermore, the presentments stated, "in the main the School Department received full value for all expenditures criticized."

The Grand Jury recommended, however, that the Board of Education and Superintendent give consideration to the Auditor's report and that "hereafter all payments from school funds should be made strictly in accordance with the law."

To insure such compliance with the law, the Grand Jury recommended that the Board elect an attorney to advise on the legality of all expenditures.

The Board was commended for its co-operation in the investigation, and an itemized list of the questioned expenditures upheld.

STORY ABOUT A STORY

This is a story about two Stories — Vernon and Frank Story—who are the drum beatingest boys in Tift County.

Vernon has been named Drum Major for the Tifton High School Band. Brother Frank, former Drum Major of the Albany High School Band, is now attending the University of California after winning a scholarship to the University—for his drum major work.

They are the sons of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Story, of Tifton.

Tired Kidneys Often Bring Sleepless Nights

Doctors say your kidneys contain 15 miles of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy. When they get tired and don't work right in the daytime, many people have to get up nights. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder. Don't neglect this condition and lose valuable, restful sleep.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may also cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, used successfully by millions for over 50 years. Doan's give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

mitted he had fought with his wife "for no particular reason."

"She just aggravated me. I had to do all the work, even the cooking," he told the Sheriff.

Then, the Sheriff said, Howard told how he had beaten his wife head with a hoe-handle blow, then head wit a hoe-handle blow, then chased her into the back yard and knocked her senseless with a gambrel stick — a stick with which hogs are hung up at slaughtering time.

Howard was quoted as saying he dragged his wife to the back porch and left her. Sikes said the woman apparently died sometime the next day. He said her skull was fractured by the gambrel-stick blow.

Howard reportedly washed his wife's dress and the gambrel stick and hung them up to dry. When he arrived at the turpentine still two miles away—the nearest settlement — the still owner, Ernie Bell, saw the woman's body and called the Sheriff.

The Howard bungalow sits in piney woods on the edge of the vast South Georgia swamp. It is in the thumb of extreme South Georgia land that juts into Florida.

Sikes said Howard and his wife were divorced about 15 years ago but had been living together for the last seven months.

Meanwhile, Homer Chase, Communist organizer, asked the American Legion to investigate "Herman Talmadge's subversive slander against Negro people in Georgia."

From Talmadge came this comment: "I am glad the Communists do consider me subversive. I welcome their opposition. If being opposed to Communism in all its forms makes me a subversive, I welcome that title."

'Tulips On Parade' Charms Huge Throng

Flower lovers from all over the country who came to town this week to see the Tulip Show will not be disappointed.

"Tulips on Parade," which opened Thursday for a two-day stand at the Auditorium Annex under the sponsorship of the Atlanta Tulip Show Association, is one of the most beautiful productions of this kind ever staged in Atlanta.

a change, and brought hundreds of garden club members' blooms to full flower just in time for the show. Specimens were never finer and artistic compositions and table arrangements were exquisite.

Hurt Park has put on a show all her own in the masses of gorgeous reds and yellows, softest lavender and pure white beds which stand primly behind clipped hedges. Crowds waiting for the indoor show stood about and oohed and aahed at this riot of color outside.

WELCOMED BY GIRLS

Doors opened to a waiting crowd which was welcomed by pretty girls in Dutch costumes and by a soft melody of organ music. In the foyer was a perfect formal garden sporting 600 yellow tulips standing row upon row against a background of evergreens and white azaleas. A restful garden scene graced one side of the foyer, complete with outdoor furniture so that guests might sit down and enjoy the impact of such beauty.

The stage backdrop for the main showroom was a beautiful wooded scene made ethereal with lacy doggood and azaleas, in front of which were planted beds of deep rose and white tulips, with complimentary flowers adding to the picture. Focal points of this scene was an oil painting done by a High Museum Art instructor, lending depth to the scene.

Mrs. Sam Belsinger, a charter member of the Tulip Study Club and an ardent tulip grower, walked off with the most coveted specimen trophies of the show—the Clyde King award for her White Cross collection of the five best blooms in the show—and the sweepstakes award, the Edna Belsinger and Marie Nicholson trophy for the most blue ribbons in the show.

TWO WINNERS

Mrs. T. S. Perry and Mrs. J. A. Harris of the Princeton Garden Club took sweepstakes for the best Anniversary Table arrangement, a symphony of soft gray linen, shining silver and an exquisite arrangement of pink and white tulips as a centerpiece.

Sweepstakes winner in artistic arrangements, "Glamor in Green," was Mrs. W. Alvin Smith, of the Azalea Garden Club. Her interpretation was a simple arrangement of snowy white tulips and deutzia in a dark green pottery vase.

Five outstanding flower arrangement artists, who have long since quit competing for prizes, were invited to exhibit in a non-competitive class. They were Mrs. Julian Walter, of Lookout Mountain, Tenn.; Mrs. J. O. Martin, of Atlanta; Mrs. Ira Smith, of College Park; Mrs. W. O. Childs, of Macon, and Mrs. Charles Hardy, of Gainesville. Their one-room exhibit was one of the sensations of the show.

MRS. BRYAN A. WINNER

Mrs. Eugene Bryan, of the Tulip Study Club, won the J. Wen Lundeen Trophy for the most outstanding entry of three tulips, any color, and the Avondale Estates Garden Club took the Myron E. Freeman Trophy and the Edna Belsinger and Marie Nicholson Award for the best club collection.

Second prize table winners were Mrs. Binion Jordan and Mrs. R. C. Rhodes, of the Clifton Road Garden Club, and third prize went to Mrs. L. W. Dilts, Mrs. Fred Anderson and Mrs. Thomas Horton, of Lenox Park Garden Club.

In Artistic Arrangements, blue ribbon winner in "Royal Splendor" was Mrs. Major Payne, of the Sandy Springs Garden Club; red ribbon was won by Mrs. T. E. Brents, of Peachtree Park Garden Redmond, of Durand Garden Club.

"Tulip Magic" placed Mrs. C. L. Murrah, of Clifton Road Garden Club, first; Mrs. J. C. Holmes, of Gardenia Garden Club, second, and Mrs. Herman Boozer, of Peachtree Battle Garden Club, third.

OTHER WINNERS

In the "As You Like It" group, Mrs. E. W. Quinn, of Woodbine Garden Club, placed first; Mrs. John Pye, of Northwood Garden Club, second, and Mrs. G. D. Sanders, of Avondale Garden Club, third.

"One Dozen Tulips" won first prize for Mrs. Paul Webb and Mrs. F. G. Jackson, of Radiance Garden Club; second for Mrs. Forrest Smith, Mrs. Arthur Leppold and Mrs. M. M. Albright, of Dogwood Garden Club, and third for Mrs. Frank Kemp, of Club Estates Garden Club.

Arrangements titled "In the French Manner" listed first prize winner as Mrs. Henry Maddox and Mrs. Phinizy Calhoun, of Peachtree Garden Club; second, Mrs. John M. Bomar and Mrs. H. W. Jernigan, of the Spade and Towel Club, and third, Mrs. Thomas Hicks and Mrs. Franklin, of the Rose Garden Club.

Mrs. G. W. Brubaker is Executive Show Chairman in charge of the display. The show will be open Friday from 11 a. m. until 10 p. m. Tickets may be purchased at the door.

Chicago Street Photographer Leaves $32,000

CHICAGO, April 8—(AP)—A two-bits pose photographer was $32,000 in bank savings was found dead Thursday in a dingy hotel room.

He was Max Rubens, 69. Police found $2 in change scattered about the room. Two bank books showed he had $16,000 deposited in both the First National Bank and the Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust Company.

His room was in the Curtis Hotel at 1052 West Madison St., just west of the Skid Row district, hangout of panhandlers.

Sgt. John Hennessey of Desplaines Street Police said Rubens earned his living by taking pictures along West Madison Street, in front of the Chicago and North Western Railway Terminal and in Lincoln Park. He photographed pedestrians at 25 cents an exposure.

At Least It Isn't Snowing

John L. Lewis is, among other things, a patient man, a fact his opponents almost always forget.

This becomes apparent as a by-product of his resistance to court orders in the coal walkout, which may or may not be a strike, but which most certainly is not producing coal and thereby is slowing down the nation's economy.

However, since this issue has to be court tested, now is the time to get it done with. In fact, Old John has been very considerate of us. It usually is Winter, with ice and snow and blizzards harrying the nation, when he manages to halt production of coal.

He is a vindictive man, as well as a patient one. He wants to destroy the CIO leadership. The way to do it is to win over the big unions, chiefly steel and automobiles.

So, Lewis' strategy becomes apparent. He is insisting that Big Steel's Ben F. Fairless be present in the negotiations for pensions for all miners with 20 years of service and 60 or more years of age.

This means that he wants to extend the pension plan into Big Steel's captive mines.

If the plan goes there, then Big Steel will either be forced to extend a pension or retirement plan to its employees or face a fight for it in negotiations. That is why Ben F. Fairless is staying away from the coal mine negotiations. If Lewis forces pensions into steel Lewis will get credit for it.

Lewis, meanwhile, is insisting that under his contract his miners work when "able or willing," and that apparently they are not willing. There is nothing to do save wait for the courts.

Time was when John Lewis used to cause us to leap into the air and tear our editorial hair. But we have got used to Big John, even if the Government's inability to cope with him still makes us uncomfortable. We are grateful it is not 10 below zero this time. John is softening up. Maybe the courts will soften him more. We hope so. Meanwhile, we will go on a light diet and try to keep down our blood pressure.

There is more at stake than coal.

We have got to decide whether a chartered labor organization is as subject to the law as a chartered corporation.

Not a Political Plum

Having previously urged the decision, we naturally congratulate the Mayor on his announcement that the refreshment concession at the Municipal Auditorium is not to be awarded on a political basis.

Bids have been sought from reputable concessionaires and we assume that, everything else being equal, the contract will be let to the one making the best offer.

The city should insist, of course, that standard brands of merchandise be sold and that a fair price be charged.

But it stands to reason that the city and the public will better be served if the operation of concessions is entrusted to those with experience in the field rather than someone whose only recommendation is a friend or relative on City Council.

The ERP Administrator

In Paul G. Hoffman the President found an administrator for the European Recovery Program who combines industrial know-how with a firm grasp of world economics and at least a basic understanding of the political factors involved in America's foreign policy.

Mr. Hoffman has contributed generously of his time for the past several years to service to his Government. He has been Chairman of the Committee for Economic Development since it began in 1942. He was Honorary Chairman during the war of United China Relief, Inc. His official capacities, however, have been overshadowed by his active interest in all governmental problems, but particularly those bearing on the economic field.

As President of the Studebaker Corporation Mr. Hoffman was paid $96,000 a year. He will get $20,000 as Administrator of ERP. His new post will be infinitely tougher than any he has tackled yet, but its rewards will be the satisfaction of laying the groundwork for what we all hope will be the economic recovery of the Western world and a contribution to a stable peace.

A Million for the Buford Dam

It is, of course, still too early for celebrating, but the action of a Senate appropriations committee in voting a million dollars for initial construction on Buford Dam is distinctly encouraging.

A couple of major hurdles remain to be cleared, the joint conference committee being the most difficult. It will be recalled that the House voted not one cent to the Buford project in spite of the fact that the $67,000 requested by the President was relatively nominal.

There is no doubt that we have Senator Russell to thank for the Senate subcommittee's action in reinstating and raising the amount to be provided. As always, he represented his state more than ably. We can only hope that, with the help of others from the Georgia delegation, he will be able to steer the appropriation safely through the remainder of its course.

We need that dam.

JAY G. HAYDEN

Stassen Stock Zooms in Nebraska

WASHINGTON—In direct reversal of its effect four years ago of cinching the GOP nomination for Gov. Dewey by eliminating his main rival, Wendell L. Willkie, the Wisconsin Presidential primary this time may have paved the way for elimination of Dewey.

And the man pitched to the top of the Republican heap, at least temporarily, by the current Wisconsin voting is Harold E. Stassen.

Even Mr. Dewey's own supporters today are privately saying that he is a gone goose unless he leads decisively in the seven-candidate free-for-all in Nebraska next week—a recoupment that does not appear likely.

Word from Nebraska today is that Stassen's stock there has zoomed upward at the expense of both Dewey and Gen. Douglas MacArthur on account of the Wisconsin result.

Whereas the Nebraska battle heretofore has been reported as principally between Dewey and Sen. Taft, with the latter having the bulk of Republican organization support, usually well-informed neutral observers in the State now prophesy that Taft and Stassen will fight it out for first place.

Should Stassen lead decisively in Nebraska—a result no more improbable than his victory in Wisconsin looked to be last week—he might, by these two primary strokes, blow both Dewey and Taft out of the running. Also Stassen has a chance to add to his primary score in Ohio, where he has challenged Taft on home ground, and in Oregon, where he will lock horns again with Dewey.

Dewey has done his best to win support of the practical politicians, but without much success. It was this group that sloughed him in 1940 and the same might have happened in 1944 except for Dewey's overwhelming leadership in all primaries and unofficial polls in that year.

Dewey's main strength this year, as always, lay in his demonstrated political sex appeal, and it was this conception that was punctured when he ran a bad third to Stassen and Gen. MacArthur on Tuesday.

This result may be attributed in part to Dewey's summary repudiation of a Wisconsin delegate list entered in his behalf in 1944 and his slowness in deciding to get the primary there this year. Dewey's 1944 Wisconsin managers all turned bitterly against him and by the time he decided to enter this time he found nobody but political has-beens or unknowns willing to take up his cause.

Gen. MacArthur's advance buildup in Wisconsin, on the other hand, was premised mainly on the big names marshaled in his behalf—two former Governors, La Follette and Zimmerman, and the widow of another ex-Governor. Also whooping it up for the General were the newspaper barons, Col. Robert R. McCormick and William R. Hearst.

The most significant consequence of Gen. MacArthur's unexepectedly weak showing is to end any possible chance that ultra-isolationists, like McCormick and Hearst, will materially influence either the selection of a Republican Presidential candidate or formulation of the platform.

Aside from Stassen, the Presidential prospect most advanced by the Wisconsin primary may be Sen. Vandenberg. Gov. Dewey has been regarded as the one candidate who might quickly run away with the nomination. Hence his signal setback increases the chance for a prolonged convention deadlock, and in that event Vandenberg has been widely touted as the most likely dark horse nominee.

Stassen has praised Vandenberg so persistently in his speeches as to cause speculation to the effect that his real hope was a Vandenberg-Stassen ticket.

Another possibility raised by Stassen's sensational showing in Wisconsin is that Vandenberg, who has repeatedly said he does not want the nomination for himself, may throw his support to Stassen.

Government In Russia

I don't mean to set myself up in the question and answer business, but of late a number of letters have asked:

"How is Russia governed?"

Below is a try at an answer.

A government implies people.

There are many Russians. Historians have divided them as follows: the Great Russians, who settled the central portion of that part of Russia that lies in Europe; the White Russians, who lived in the western area of European Russia, along the former borders of Poland and the Baltic countries, now absorbed by the Soviets; and the Little Russians, or Ukranians. The word Ukraine itself means "border region." The "White Russians" have been called that for centuries because of a white costume once generally worn in their region. The phrase does not refer to the later political designation of "White Russian" as opposed to "Red" Russian.

There are many other peoples in Russia, Baltic Germans, Finns, the many Asiatic peoples from the Arctic on down to the Caspian Sea and Turkestan—Kalmuks, Kirghis, Samoyeds, Tartars, Estonians, Persians, Uzbeks, Letts, Lithuanians—these, and still others, make up the population.

There were many religions, Russian Orthodox, Lutherans, Greek Orthodox, Roman Catholic, Moslems, Buddhists, Jews, Baptists, and many obscure Asiatic sects. (Today the Baptist sect is the fastest growing one in Russia).

Slavs In the nineteenth century there grew up a movement which gave the German Kaiser and his staff nightmares in which horrid creatures gibbered at them and made, noises like clanking chains. This was the Pan-Slav movement, which had as its purpose the unification of all Slavic peoples—Poles, Czechs, Slovaks, Burgarians, and Serbs—with the Russians.

The Soviets have done it. They now intend to use it as a basis for world expansion of Communism.

They have more than 200,000,000 persons in their present Pan-Slav union, ruled by Communist minorities.

Votes There is a Communist constitution. It allows the vote. It does not allow an opposition party. There is only one candidate for the various offices, carefully chosen in advance by the Party.

In 1923 four "Republics" formed the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics. It was a Russian, Communist organization. It was left open so that any other Socialist, Communist state (a different sort of Socialism from British Socialism), might affiliate. There now are 16 "Republics", which are not Republics as we know them. They are governed by a "central committee."

All—with no exceptions—legislative, executive and judicial powers are entirely in the hands of the Supreme Council of the Soviets. More than 1,000 representatives, all approved in advance by the Party, are "elected" to this council. They have no opposition.

This council consists of two chambers. Neither means anything. The council is "represented" between the sessions which are called to approve action already taken, by the important "Presidium" of 37 members.

Above them are the "Commissars," and the Secret Police. They work in every village and city, in every place of employment.

Party Since all "Government" members must be approved by the Party, the real seat of power is the Communist Party "Politbureau." (Political bureau.) Its members theoretically are elected by the Council in secret ballot. But, since 1922 they have been appointed by Stalin.

The Politbureau has no published rules. Its meetings are secret and the people are not often informed of what takes place. Its published "resolutions" are greatly feared.

All government policy—all of it—is determined secretly by the Politbureau. Once a decision has been reached no citizen is allowed to criticize it. No judge, court, newspaper or radio—all owned by the Government anyhow—may express anything but enthusiastic approval. There is no appeal from its decisions.

We hear often about the "Communist" or "Party" line.

It is not a fixed policy. It is rather a set of flexible formulas which may be applied to any situation.

Our Government is that of a two-party system, highly competitive and with complete freedom of expression. The Russian system is a one-party dictatorship which controls even what sort of music shall be written, and does not tolerate any political opposition at all. Its jails and its work camps contain at least 3 to 5,000,000 prisoners.

In 30 years it has failed to give its people a comparable standard of living. It is superior only to the extreme wretchedness of the Asiatics and the Middle East, where it progresses.

How the 'Highball' Was Christened

One of the snappier small publications which comes to this desk is "Table Topics," published six times a year by Bellows & Company, importers and purveyors of fine wines, brandies, whiskies, etc. Of East 52nd Street, New York.

In the most recent issue there are some fascinating details as to the manner in which certain well known mixed drinks got their well known names.

F'rinstance, the Highball.

The authority cited for this explanation is an R. C. Magill, Manager of the Racquet Club of St. Louis.

Avers Mr. Magill that the Highball originated at the University Club in St. Louis. There the younger members, around 1888, favored a drink concocted in an 8-oz. glass, consisting of 1 oz. of bourbon and club soda as desired. In each glass was also placed an ice "ball." The drink was usually called a "Ball." Many members, however, wanted a bigger drink and they would tell the bartender, "Make it a High Ball."

Later, the St. Louis club, which had stone spheres on either side of its entrance, occupied new quarters which had a private lane connecting with a thoroughfare where street cars ran. For a long time street car conductors at that stop, called "St. Louis Club." But some forgotten gagster among them started calling it "Highball Alley."

The Gin Rickey The Gin Rickey, says Table Topics, was named after a Colonel Joe Rickey, a professional lobbyist who spent most of his time in St. Louis, and at the St. Louis Club, when he wasn't in Washington. Popular drinks in those days—about 1890—were "gin and bitters" and "gin and seltzer." But the good Colonel liked lime and sweet soda, or as it was then called soda pop. He had a special drink in an 8-oz. glass, with an ice ball, half a lime, 1 oz. of gin and soda to fill. Thus was born the Gin Rickey, named for its creator.

Another authority, A. LeBarron Russell, of Wayland, Mass., states that the Martini cocktail was named after a "Mr. Allejandro Martini or Martinez, a famous beau" of old New York. This Mr. Marinez's pet drink was gin, vermouth and a dash of Peychaud's bitters.

Bartenders got in the habit of suggesting, to customers unable to decide what to order, "Why don't you try one of Mr. Martinez's drinks."

Hence, by easy transition, the drink became known as a "Martini."

Further quoting, it is said,

"Mr. Martinez was highly incensed at having a drink called after him, particularly as at that time few, if any, gentlemen drank gin. . . . Mr. M. I believe, was a Spanish gentleman, who came to New York via Cuba, but I am not certain on this point."

"Julian Street" In this same publication found a story about our old friend Julian Street. Julian was, it seems touring the U. S. seeking material for a book he later published called "Abroad at Home." He visited a place called "Cripple Creek" in Colorado. Wandering around, by accident he found himself in the old redlight street, still operating. It was in 1913 or 1914. It was called Myers Avenue.

He described this depressing street in an article in Collier's Weekly.

Immediately the Cripple Creek leaders got furious. There were scathing editorials in the local papers. The Chamber of Commerce almost blew a gasket. All without result.

Finally the Cripple Creek folks had a bright idea. The city fathers officially changed the name of Myers Avenue to "Julian Street."

Then the state authorities got busy and cleaned out the street.

Another Bundle for Britain?

British newspapers are speculating that Princess Elizabeth is anticipating.

There'll always be an England.

The Princess' latest outfit gives the appearance of being a maternity dress although there is a chance, of course, that it is just the new look . . . and not the old story.

Still, if the Mountbattens are indeed expecting a visit from the stork, Britain will have to change the words of one of its favorite songs to "There's a NEW Bird Over the White Cliffs of Dover."

Incidentally, should the Princess indeed have a baby, there will finally materialize something Hitler was never able to bring about . . .

An Oversight

Editor Constitution: I have just finished reading and re-reading today's issue of The Constitution. I cannot find a news item about the Klan—not even an anti-Klan editoral.

What is the trouble Mr. Editor? You must have slipped up on today's issue. I know you did not mean to leave out all that anti-Klan stuff. The daily papers had better get busy and stay busy and build up a great anti-Klan issue for Mr. Thompson to run for Governor on. He doesn't have any record to run on, so the dailies and the aroused citizens will have to create an issue for him.

The papers had better get busy and send some more drunken news reporters out to break in on some Klan meetings.

Mr. Editor, what would have happened to those fellows if they had forced themselves in on a Masonic meeting or a meeting of any fraternal organization? Do you know? I think you do.

Thousands and thousands of Georgians are beginning to see through the wool pulled over their eyes in previous elections by the press, so come on newspapers lets see if you can pull something big enough to elect Mr. Thompson.

Oh, I had forgotten "Jekyll Island".

Better Representation

Editor Constitution: Recent publications in your paper indicate that all is not well with higher education in Georgia. For years the public schools in the State have been trying to put democracy into practice, by encouraging free discussion among teachers and pupils, by inviting all persons vitally concerned to accept the responsibility of determining "policies."

One look at the Board of Regents shows a predominance of big business with all the power that corporations command. Isn't it time to have representatives on the Board from the teaching staff, the students in our colleges, the public school system, and lay groups in our State who have never been represented.

On Bended Knee

Editor Constitution: After reading the editorial about we colored people believing in luck, charms, etc., I decided I would have my say. Now I cannot speak for the ignorant ones but the average Negro today has learned to put all of his trust in the Heavenly Father and not in the President of the U. S. A. And allow me to say right here that we also have learned to fight for that better day, that better world to live in. After all that has been said the Negro isn't whining; he is fighting but on bending knees.

Atlanta. WILLIAM JACKSON.

Quantity or Quality?

Editor Constitution: Due to an intense feeling of indignation, I am writing my first letter to your newspaper. My complaint concerns our State Highway Department, which appears more interested in how many low-type roads they can construct in a year, rather than in the quality and permanency of the construction.

This week I traveled from Waycross to Hazlehurst to McRae to Eastman, and then on into Macon, on black-top roads that have completely disintegrated during the past few months. Had not this incident occurred to remind me of the futility of building inadequate black-top roads, I would have nevertheless been shocked to hear that the State Highway Department is now planning to construct a four-lane asphalt highway from Marietta to the Rome fork.

I am not an engineer, but any layman is conscious of the fact that the four-lane concrete thoroughfare from Atlanta to Marietta is the finest in our State, and has given 10 years of excellent service. Connecting a slippery, black-top pavement onto this highway certainly does not make sense to me.

If U. S. 41 from Marietta to the Rome Fork is paved with black top, then I say something is radically rotten in our Highway Department, and Gov. Thompson would do well to investigate in the public's interest. Or, are we expected to "sit tight" and end up with a repetition of the Valdosta affair? W. L. HALE.

Start From Scratch

Editor Constitution: There has been a call for a Republican Party meeting to be held this month to set up the party machinery and elect delegates to the district meeting. We are having to start from scratch, and here is some speculation as to the outcome, as all the Negroes have gone to the Democrats but two old stalwarts and they are too old and feeble and don't get out much. BILL FLYNN, SR.

Greenville.

Is Treason Progress?

Editor Constitution: Front-page publicity is given in current papers to a report of the Senate Armed Service Committee in Washington regarding the Negroes' opposition to universal military training because of undemocratic segregation. Sen. Morse, Republican of Oregon, told A. Philip Randolph, Negro President of the Brotherhood of Sleeping Car Porters, that he and millions of other Negroes would face treason charges if the threat of civil rights disobedience was carried out. Randolph replied that he and other Negroes were willing to pay the price.

Ten years ago, maybe five, such advocacy of equal privileges for all people would hardly have gotten space at all in our daily papers, much less front-page publicity. Such ideas were thought of as bad reading as they might suggest that the same might be possible of realization.

Today, civil rights for all, regardless, is common place thinking—and few of us are still afraid of the same. "Keep inching along, keep inching along—Jesus will come bye and bye."

What Equality?

Editor Constitution: I note another letter on the EQUALITY question, and would like to ask, "Where is equality?"

We are all born "free and equal," with the right to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness. The only equality I see is we all come here helpless, squalling, hungry infants, demanding all the attention we can get, and we are on our own with the help of our environment from there, with the acquired instincts and characteristics of heritage, grasping or failing to grasp opportunity.

When God saw fit to build the world with all the billions of people just a little bit different from the others, He was doing it by the spirit of life, and not a mechanical machine-age equality.

We may not have national castes but our lives, living and labors draws their invisible lines of caste. So we have the privilege of seeking out and gathering together those with whom we wish to associate. We have the privilege of fitting ourselves for the place we wish to achieve, and until we fit ourselves, and shape our lives, labors, thoughts, etc., to fall with harmony into a group we cannot expect to be one of that group. Even then, the unexpected factor may arise, and Mr. New Rich finds himself failing to crash the wealthy social clubs.

Too many people have not learned that a law writes itself, man only supplying the words. Made laws are a matter of feeding a furnace with stones instead of coal. It won't work.

Don't Underestimate Harold Stassen

WASHINGTON—The Wisconsin primary is usually a reliable crystal ball in a Presidential election year. What happens there can make or break political careers, as it has.

The Wisconsin test this week definitely blasted the Presidential chances of one contender for the Republican nomination, Gen. Douglas MacArthur, just as it did those of the late Wendell Willkie four years ago when he was trying a comeback. It badly tarnished another candidate, up to now regarded as the leader, Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, of New York, who got his start nationally in a Wisconsin primary eight years ago and clinched his first-ballot nomination four years ago by a smashing victory in Wisconsin, followed a few days later by another in the Nebraska primary.

And, last of all, on the positive side, the Wisconsin primary this year invigorated tremendously the candidacy of Harold Stassen, representing the younger and more progressive wing of the party.

But, almost as important as these rather decisive personal political results, is the clue to the mood of voters this critical year, for Wisconsin is a representative State that may perhaps be taken as a fair sample.

For example, in the elimfnation of Gen. MacArthur, the Wisconsin primary seemed to reveal that the public is not so susceptible to a glamorous military figure of his sort as some had feared, even though the hero of the Pacific was built up in an emotional campaign as a native son—though not born in the State—who was due a reward for military services. This was, all in all, the most encouraging and heartening thing about the Wisconsin primary. It was a refreshing note of sanity.

The Stassen victory also indicated an inclination among voters to newer, fresher, franker figures in public life who have a broad outlook upon the world. Despite his youth, Gov. Dewey has become slightly shopworn, and is identified with the more purely political type of which the public obviously has grown weary. This he exemplified in his caution and his standoffishness as contrasted with the frank discussion of issues by Mr. Stassen in his continuous campaign for nearly two years, in which he has shown himself to voters all over the country.

Gov. Dewey's very poor showing in Wisconsin was admittedly a serious blow to his candidacy, particularly in view of his two previous overwhelming triumphs in that State. While he cannot be read out, as can Gen. MacArthur—for he may recoup to some extent in next week's Nebraska primary—nevertheless he suffered one of those psychological reverses which this political observer is ready to accept as the beginning of a downward trend from which he will not recover.

The Governor has hitherto been the "champ" among Republican vote-getters. Now he has been "got at," in common parlance. He has shown vulnerability in this role, and in an area, the Middle West, where he previously has run so well. It was his popularity there, added to New York with its big convention and electoral vote, that made him so formidable a candidate. His Wisconsin failure will offer an excuse for desertion by some regular politicians, never too friendly, who stuck with him because he was the front-runner.

Harold Stassen was running on his home ground, so to speak, in a neighboring State. Had he run badly, he would have been counted out. But his surprising victory, and against two such highly-touted rivals, gives him enhanced prestige and might well be the beginning of one of those bursts in the stretch that would make him more of a contender than he heretofore has appeared.

His chances have been rated low chiefly because of the hostility of the Old Guard GOP leadership, and the latter element had hardened its heart even more against a young, progressive type of candidate since the disintegration of the Democratic Party which makes a Republican victory now look sure and easy. He might possibly break through if he could become a sort of "people's candidate" among Republican contenders

At any rate, he has established a claim for the Vice Presidential nomination. His victory has increased talk of a Vandenberg-Stassen ticket. Sen. Vandenberg, of Michigan, is now rated the most likely compromise candidate in the event of a Taft-Dewey deadlock. The Taft camp was encouraged by the poor Dewey showing in Wisconsin, since Gov. Dewey is regarded as the Senator's chief rival at the convention.

Any hard-and-fast calculations about the nomination, however, must await further primaries, beginning with that next week in Nebraska, the "free-for-all," in which all the candidates are entered.

Rabbit Is Never Rabbit Any More

WASHINGTON—Practically everybody, announced Manfred Benedek, lawyer for the fur coat makers, knows that Hudson seal is not seal at all. Oops!

"Well, I didn't know it," snapped Rep. Robert Hale, of Maine. "Maybe I am naive, but I thought Hudson seal was seal. What is it?"

Counsel Benedek blushed to the roots of his curly hair and said that it was muskrat, dyed black. And I don't guess I ever spent a fuzzier day than this one, listening to the fur boys explain why they wanted no part of a law forcing all imported furs, of whatever color, to bear a label in plain English saying from the back of what animals they were removed.

The Congressmen on the House Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee kept using that word "rabbit." Caused the fur experts to shudder. It is a hateful word as far as they are concerned and they would prefer that the lawmakers say "coney" or "lapin."

"What is this lapin?" asked Rep. Joseph P. O'Hara, of Minnesota.

Benedek said that was a French word meaning coney. And what was coney? "R——t," whispered the witness.

"What does the phrase Arctic seal mean to you?" demanded Rep. John W. Heselton, of Massachusetts, turning to Joseph L. Stein, counsel for the Fur Dressers Association. Stein said he wouldn't know.

"It's not a seal that came out of the Arctic," said the gentleman from Ohio. "It is a dyed rabbit."

And it wasn't long before Max M. Albach, representing the biggest fur dyers in the world, was trying to explain about jungle mink raccoon. The lawgivers were fascinated.

"Jungle mink raccoon is our baby," said Albach. "We are just experimenting with it. It isn't on the market yet."

"Is it rabbit, too?" asked Rep. Harris Ellsworth, of Oregon.

"Oh no, sir," said Albach, sounding hurt. "It is raccoon."

"Well, do raccoons live in the jungles?" insisted Rep. Hale.

"I don't think so," said the jungle-mink-raccoon man. "But we chose that word, jungle, because this fur has a greenish tinge."

"Is there any such thing as a jungle mink?" asked Rep. O'Hara.

Albach said he doubted it. And the more the fur fellows argued, seemed like, the more trouble they had convincing those Congressmen of anything. Let's listen to another segment of the argument:

"Where does Persian lamb come from?" asked Rep. O'Hara.

This, it turned out, is produced all over the world, except in Persia.

"You have not convinced me that it is proper to pass off a rabbit as a leopard, or a lion, or a Baltic brown fox," suggested Rep. Heselton. He asked what was an ermine?

"A weasel," sighed Albach.

And if a New York beaver swims the St. Lawrence River, Benedek wondered, does that make him a Canadian beaver under the bill?

"Beavers are good swimmers," he added. He wasn't making jokes, either. He couldn't have been more serious.

Chairman Charles A. Wolverton, of New Jersey, said he still couldn't see what was wrong with calling rabbit "rabbit."

Caused the fur men to do a double-take, en masse.

They Died--But Only for a Few Minutes

I saw Maurice Chevalier die a few weeks ago. He was dead only a few minutes, but to the performer it must have felt liko a good hunk of forever.

The death scene was enacted on the stage of the Golden Theater the night the big boy of the boulevards brought his one-man show back to New York. Maurice's opening lyric concerned itself with the need of a gal for a guy. It was one of those audience participation numbers in which the entertainer calls the spectators' attention to a couple of ladies who have come to the theater unescorted. And then to a couple of gents a few aisles away who are minus girls. The entertainer introduces them to each other and makes the usual suggestions about their getting together. Old stuff, but sure-fire.

One of the stanzas of the Great Accent's song had to do with the joys of being young. Maurice singled out a grey-haired woman who was sitting down front. He kidded her a little and then reached into his straw skimmer and threw her a handful of what he said was eternal youth.

Then the death scene took place. The woman stood up and started heckling him. It was evident she was drunk. Chevalier ignored her and kept singing, but it was like trying to perform in a wind tunnel. The woman kept heckling, and there was more whiskey than wit in her remarks.

After the first few seconds the audience didn't think it was funny. It settled back in its seats and waited for the old bag to talk herself out. She finally did, but Chevalier's opening number was dead. And from where I sat I got the feeling that a little of Chevalier had died too.

Twenty minutes later, the hep crowd was again eating out of Maurice's well-manicured hand, but there was still a hint of hangover in the theater.

After the show, I bumped into Garson Kanin, the playwright director, and told him the story.

"I know a better one than that," said Gar, "the one about Harry Houdini."

Something like twenty years ago, according to Gar, Houdini appeared at a benefit show at the Winter Garden. It was one of those nights oldtimers are forever talking about. Joe Cook imitated four Hawaiians, W. C. Fields did his poolroom act, and Al Jolson got down on one knee and sang "Mammy."

Then came Houdini's turn. According to Gar his first trick consisted of escaping from an iron safe personally locked by J. J. Shubert. Then Harry announced a new trick—one he had been working on for fifteen years.

"I shall place a dozen needles and some loose thread in my mouth," he said. "Without using my hands, in one second, I will thread all the needles."

Today this stunt is in the repertoire of every club-date Merlin. You can buy it in magic stores for a dollar. But twenty years ago it was wonder stuff.

"I need a volunteer," Houdini told the audience. "I want him to examine the needles and thread. And then look into my mouth and make certain I have concealed nothing there."

The magician ran his eyes over the front rows and rejected the celebrities whose glamour might detract from his trick. Finally he spotted a little man sitting on an aisle seat.

"You, sir," said Houdini. "Would you care to volunteer?"

The little man got to his feet and climbed up on the stage.

"Kindly examine my mouth," ordered the magician. ""Do you see any needles or thread hidden under my tongue?"

The little man peered into the magician's open mouth and said nothing.

"Don't be frightened, my good man," said Houdini. "Please tell the audience what you see."

"Pyorrhea!" said the little man.

The audience laughed for five minutes. The magician went ahead and did the trick on which he had worked for fifteen years, but nobody paid any attention.

Poor Houdini. Out of 1,600 people at the Winter Garden that night, he had to pick on Groucho Marx, whom he didn't recognize without his moustache!

THE QUESTION:

Is war with Russia inevitable?

THE ANSWERS:

MILDRED MINTZ, 754 Capitol Ave., S. W., business school student—Oh, yes. From the way they're carrying on over there now — getting ready for it—it doesn't look like it'll be over a year or so before we'll be at war with them. Every time you start talking to someone they usually wind up talking about which country will be the first to drop the atomic bomb, the United States or Russia. I hope it'll be settled soon one way or another.

MRS. MARY BRYANT, 340 Cooper St., S. W., winder, woolen mill—Yes, I do. It's just because I think they and the Americans can't agree on things. They think we're maybe not doing our part in helping them as far as finances go. I don't think we should keep it up. The Russians shouldn't try to start war with any of the countries over there. I hope I'm not wrong about thinking that.

H. C. HAMMOND, 82 Memorial Dr., S. E., policeman—It looks to me like we'll have war eventually. It's probably only a matter of time. I think those boys up in Washington aren't getting hard enough and tough enough. They're letting Russia push them around. Russia is always running out of the meetings when things don't go to suit them. Looks like if they could keep them sitting in a meeting sometime, they might get a little something out of them.

JOHN McKINNON, 111 Richardson St., S. W., just released from Army—As far as I can see, if they keep going the way they're going, there'll be a war. If Russia keeps stepping on the toes of people over here, there's bound to be a war in the long run. All we can do is sit tight and see what happens. To my way of thinking, they haven't done enough yet to warrant a war.

KENNETH G. DAVIS, 943 Delaware Ave., S. E., fireman—I believe that there will be war with Russia, but I don't see it in the near future. The price of peace is very high. I hate to think of another world conflict, but unless our diplomatic forces take a firmer stand, we will be forced into it. I think the UMT is a good thing; we should have a strong reserve. The only thing the Russians respect is military might. If they know we have it, they won't be so apt to put us in a position where we have to go to war.

A. H. PICKREN, JR., 582 Moreland Ave., N. E., teletype operator, United Press—How would you answer that—all you know is what you read in the papers. from that, it looks like Russia is very aggressive. The United States should keep a large military force to keep any nation from getting ideas about waging war on the U. S. I don't think our government has been using strong enough language with Russia, although they seem to be bearing down a little now.

DORIS YARBROUGH, 1142 Briarcliff Pl., N. E., stenographer—I really don't think any war is inevitable. Its only a failing of human understanding or wisdom. I think applied Christianity is the only thing that will save a war at this time. In regard to atomic research, the people in charge of it in both countries should use it for CONstructive rather than DEstructive purposes.

BUGS BAER

All the Presidential candidates are going faster than waffles in the morning. If they don't stop promising terrific improvements, thinking up amendments and denouncing vested interests, they are going to be like a mule galloping along a wharf. They are going to run out of platform.

We still have most of April, May and June left before Philadelphia in the morning. That's when the keynoters whistle for the crossings and the instructed proxies carry the banner marked with the strange device.

OLLIE REEVES

"Ex-wife of Gen. MacArthur, asked if she would support him for President, evaded the question by replying, 'I do not consider him a possibility.'"—News quote.

Experience should teach us that a man should not expect . . . an answer from a lady that is final, or direct . . . she will not say that white is white or swear that black is black . . . but stubbornly reserves the right to take her answer back. .

Confronted with some statement made, at some domestic scene . . . she says, "I know that's what I said, but that's not what I mean" . . . and while a man is fathoming the depth of that remark . . . her added explanations leave him further in the dark.

Misunderstandings come about and no one is to blame
. . . the meanings are quite different, the language is the same . . . and the only time a man can know exactly what she thinks . . is when he asks her something and she's silent as the Sphinx.

ALTAR STAIRS — By John Marvin Rast

They all made us afraid, saying, Their hands shall be weakened from the work, that it be not done. Now therefore, O God, strengthen my hands.—Nehemiah 6:9.

Discouragers we have with us always. They lack the vision of success and they would deter anyone else who possesses it. To achieve any good one must have conviction that one's work is of the Lord. Then as obstacles arise they will be discarded or surmounted through divine wisdom and strength. Nehemiah's statement, "So built we the wall . . . for the people had a mind to work," stands as a memorial to godly courage and resourcefulness. Having determined that a cause is virtuous, give it all your powers, knowing that the universe is on your side.

Eternal God, we look to Thee for guidance. We rejoice that Thou are with us purposing good and girding us for valiant endeavor. Keep us worthy of Thy trust.

Draft, UMT Strongly Favored

PRINCETON, N. J.,—Voter sentiment throughout the nation strongly supports President Truman's urgent plea for both universal military training legislation and a return to the draft in order to strengthen the nation's armed forces.

More voters favor adoption of UMT today than at any point since the question has been seriously considered. Seventy-seven percent approve of the step, compared with 65 percent three months ago.

Furthermore, more than six out of ten voters also approve re-enactment of the Selective Service Act.

Thousands of representative citizens were asked the following question in regard to UMT:

"Do you think Congress should or should not pass a law to require every able-bodied young man (who has not already been in the armed forces) to take military or naval training for one year?"

The same question has been asked over a period of years. The following table shows today's sentiment compared with the trend:

Appling Tagged Art Houtteman Right

When Mr. Lucius B. Appling returned to his Dunwoody domicile after the 1947 baseball season he tagged Art Houtteman, the young Detroit pitcher, as one of the coming great moundsmen of the game.

Mr. Appling has been in the big time almost since the day Houtteman was born. He has fouled off pitches by the American League's best for nigh on to 18 years now. Furthermore, he isn't inclined to go around making wild statements just to get his name in the papers.

Consequently, any observation bearing the Appling trademark is genuine and authoritative.

Atlanta fans had a chance to see for themselves this latest pride of Briggs Stadium the other night against the Crackers. And what they saw made them believe that if anything, Mr. Appling was guilty of an understatement.

Houtteman showed the 5,055 faithful that he's got what it takes. His fast ball zipped. His curve turned corners and his side-arm slider had right-handed batters in the notion to take off for third base.

Di Mag Impressed Mr. Appling isn't the only American League hitter to make such a prediction about Houtteman's future. Joe DiMaggio, of the Yanks, is another.

The kid came up to the Tigers from Buffalo late last season. He started a game against the Yanks. DiMag came to bat for the first time. Art let him have a sinker.

"Say," DiMaggio said to the Tiger catcher, "this kid knows what it's all about, doesn't he?"

If the Yankee outfielder and his teammates needed any more convincing, the young Mr. Houtteman promptly provided it. He whipped the champs that day and again later in the season for two of his seven big league victories.

He also beat Cleveland twice and the Red Sox once, losing only to St. Louis and Philadelphia while compiling a sensational earned run average of 1.86.

He won't be 21 until July 7. No wonder Appling, DiMaggio and his manager, Steve O'Neill, are lavish in their predictions about his future.

Strong Pitching Baseball folks can't seem to get around to giving the Tigers much chance for the American League pennant this year. Maybe they are too busy talking about the Yanks and the Red Sox.

But O'Neill isn't counting his club out of it and two days' casual observation reveals why.

There's little question that the Detroit pitching staff of Hal Newhouser, Dizzy Trout, Virgil Trucks, Fred Hutchinson, Stubby Overmire and Houtteman is the best in baseball.

If, as some experts agree, pitching is 50 percent of the game, the Tigers could be the big surprise of the American League on their hurling alone.

Infield Uncertain The prognosticators shied from the Tigers because of an alleged infield weakness and maybe they are right.

However, O'Neill has come up with a fancy-fielding shortstop in Neil Berry and a lanky first baseman in George Vico to fill out an infield which otherwise includes George Kell, perhaps the game's best third baseman, and Eddie Mayo.

If one may judge from a couple of games, Berry is a better fielder than Bill Cox, who was here with the Dodgers, and Cox was supposed to be one of the National League's best last season.

What's more, writers with the Detroit team report Berry is hitting the ball at a better than .400 clip during Spring games. He hit .299 for Buffalo last year and he can drop 25 points off that and still stick in the big leagues if he continues his sensational fielding.

$50,000 Key The admitted key to the Tigers' pennant chances is Dick Wakefield, the $50,000 one-time wonder who looks like a $50,000 bust with startling frequency.

Wakefield hit .283 last season, but against Mason Leeper's curve balls the other night he appeared helpless. If he can regain his 1944 form, the Tigers definitely will be in the race.

The other outfield berths are well manned with Vic Wertz and Hoot Evers, a couple of youngsters who wrote a lot of headlines in the 1947 season.

In addition, Pa Mullin and Old Doc Cramer are available for part-time duty.

Coaltown Wins at Keeneland

LEXINGTON, Ky., April 8—(AP)—Coaltown, Calumet Farm's second choice in the Kentucky Derby Winter Book, hurdled his first test in fast company here Thursday by handily winning the Phoenix Handicap.

The crack bay wasn't hustled after he got his nose out front at the head of the stretch. He finished a length and a half on top of George R. Schneider's George Gains and his own stablemate, Fervent.

Coaltown galloped the six furlongs in 1:12 on a track that was rated only good but which was drying out fast. His last outing had been a record-equaling 1:09 3/5 for the same distance at Hialeah, and he was clocked in a record workout this week, but Jockey J. Robertson was in no hurry this time.

Coaltown collected $9,500 of the $13,000 Phoenix pot, giving him total winnings of $12,400 in winning three out of three races. This was his first test in a stakes race.

The son of Bull Lea returned $2.40 for a $2 win ticket. George Gains paid $3.60 and $3 to place, and Fervent was a $2.20 show choice.

son. He captured top money in the big Crosby tourney at Los Angeles; the Rio Grande Open at Harlington, Texas, and the recent Greensboro, N. C., Open.

His biggest victory, however, was in the 1946 National Open when he bested Byron Nelson and Vic Gyezzi in a three-way playoff for title.

One stroke back and in a good position to step into the limelight if Mangrum falters in Friday's second round were Claude Harmon, of Mamaroneck, N. Y.; Ed Furgol, of Pontiac, Mich.; Little Ben Hogan, one of the favorites from Hershey, Pa., and the 1946 Masters champ; Silent Herman Keiser, of the Firestone Country Club, Akron, Ohio. Hogan, who played with Byron Nelson Thursday, was out in 37, but on the back nine, he trimmed three strokes off par with a neat 33.

Mangrum out	444	343	443—33
Par in	443	545	344—36

Bracketed at 71 were such famous names as two-times Masters Champion Byron Nelson, of Denton, Texas; PGA Champion Jim Ferrier, from Chicago; Bobby Locke, the South Africa champ from Johannesburg; Chick Harbert, long-knocking Detroiter; Dick Metz, of Arkansas City, Kans.; National Amateur Champion Skee Riegel, Upper Darby, Pa., and Art Bell, a newcomer from San Francisco. Of this groupe, Locke and Nelson are expected to be Mangrum's most dangerous competition.

Henry Cotton, famous British pro from London, had an even 72, which tied him with Harr Todd, of Dallas, Texas; Lelan Gibson, Kansas City, and Forme PGA Titlist Bob Hamilton, o Evansville. Cotton and Locke com prise the only foreign threat ir this year's field of 57.

Defending Champion Jimmy Demaret was slightly off his usua steady game, and wound up the day with a 73 which deadlocked him with six others.

Bobby Jones, President of the Augusta National Club and one of the originators of this tournament, posted a 38-38—76. This is the only tournament appearance each year of the retired Grand Slam Champion; and regardless of how he is scoring, he always attracts one of the largest galleries on the course. Thursday, as is his usual custom on opening day, he played with the Defending Champion, Demaret.

Amateur George Hamer, Georgia's other entry in the meet, ran into all kinds of trouble. He finally came in with a 37-40—77.

Biggest blowup of the day was by Sam Byrd, the ex-New York Yankee outfielder. Sammy blew himself to a big 10 on the second hole, and never quite recovered. He posted an 84 for the round and seems definitely out of the money list.

Twelve players were under par for the day. Sixteen were par or better and 45 were 75 or lower.

A rainstorm of near-cyclone proportion caught a big portion of the field late in the afternoon, but it did not seem to affect their scoring. Hogan and Nelson sat out the big blow in a ditch on 15. It took practically all the newspaper men and Western Union operators to hold the big press tent on the ground so strong was the wind.

A colorful crowd of around 7,000 was on hand Thursday. It is expected to more than double by Saturday and Sunday.

The second 18-hole round will get under way at 11:30 Friday.

Although a lot of things can happen between now and Sunday afternoon when the winner will be crowned, it looks like the experts were right in naming such veterans as Mangrum, Locke, Hogan, Nelson and Demaret as the likely winners in pre-tournament polls. Demaret is the only one of this quintet not in a real threatening position. However, there is nothing wrong with his position that a trio of 68's wouldn't cure.

GRADY, O'KEEFE ROMP; FULTON TIES AGAIN

Roosevelt Wins, Takes Lead; Rhino Whitewashes Murphy

By JESSE OUTLAR

Roosevelt High shelled three Brown hurlers for 15 hits and coasted to a 9-6 victory Thursday afternoon to take over the City League lead from Murphy by a half-game margin.

Murphy, playing Marist in a non-loop tilt, was the victim of a brilliant four-hitter by Chappell Rhino, dropping a 9-0 verdict. Elsewhere in the Prep circuit, Grady mauled Smith, 17-4; O'Keefe shaded Bass, 7-2, and Fulton battled Canton to a 13-inning 7-7 stalemate.

Roosevelt's James Hendricks paced the slugfest against Brown, poling two doubles and two singles, while Richard Bush banged three singles and Ray Newsome a triple and single to drive in three runs. Edwin Webster, who whiffed 18 O'Keefe batsmen in his last start, covered the route for the Tide, issuing seven hits and fanning eight.

Rhino hurled his first high school shutout in a unique manner. The righthander faced only 24 Murphy batters in the eight-inning game, which was halted by rain. He picked three runners off bases, while his mates contributed a double play and threw out one runner at home to make the unusual feat possible. Rhino also walloped a double and a triple.

Buck Bradberry, toeing the mound for the first time, turned in a well-pitched game for Murphy after weathering a five-run first.

Mel Froug laced out three singles to spark the massacre of Smith. Every Grady batter, with the exception of Ed O'Kelley, hit safely off the four Smith pitchers.

Billy Cole fashioned a six-hitter to halt Bass as the Irish broke into the victory column for the first time this season. He was in complete control, whiffing seven, and narrowly missing a shutout. Cole had a big day at the plate, smashing two doubles and a single to aid his own cause.

In the only NGIC game of the day, Fulton played its second straight extra-inning stalemate. On Tuesday, Fulton and Gainesville struggled to a 19-inning, 3-3 tie, and the Canton draw extended the Fulton tie string to 32 frames in two games.

Fulton poured over four runs in the fourth to take the lead, but Canton rallied to knot the count with a three-run outburst in the ninth. Thereafter, neither nine scored, with rain halting the contest after the thirteenth.

Decatur, WestFulton Play Today

By CHARLIE ROBERTS

Decatur and West Fulton, considered the teams most likely to wrest the NGIC diamond crown from the brow of Drane Watson's Gainesvillians this year, will match pitches and base hits for the undisputed loop lead at 4 o'clock this afternoon on the Decatur diamond.

Lawrence Thompson, former Boys High Lefty and rated perhaps the best of the state's high school pitching fraternity, will be serving up his southpaw slants for the first time since polishing off Gainesville, 2-0, with a no-hitter in Gainesville 10 days ago.

Coach Vic Hansard, whose Owls finished fourth in the NGIC last year and then startled baseball followers with tournament triumphs over Lanier, of Macon, and Thomaston's R. E. Lee on their way to the Georgia High school title, will send either Walter Butler or Durant Reese against the Bulldogs. Both are Giant righthanders.

Thompson will have his work cut out for him in that only one West Fulton regular, Third Sacker Hilton Hartsfield, swings his mace from Port Arthur Sonny Conn and Lloyd Coursey, running one-two in the conference batting race with .714 and .667 averages, respectively, and the other Owls bat righthanded.

Shortstop Jim Umbricht is sparking Charlie Waller's team with seven hits in 1" trips for a .583 average Courts Redford, Homer Sims and Thompson himself also pack a wealth of extra base hitting potential.

Decatur has trimmed Canton, 6-4; Gainesville, 2-0, and Marietta, 15-3. West Fulton has measured Brown, 13-8, in a non-loop tilt; North Fulton, 9-5, and Marietta, 8-2.

North Fulton, beaten in both league starts, will play host to Marietta at 3:30 p. m. on the North Fulton diamond in the only other NGIC contest today.

Jacket Nine Clashes With Belle Isle Today

Georgia Tech's baseball team will meet the Belle Isle nine of the City League at 4 o'clock this afternoon at Rose Bowl Field. No game is scheduled for Saturday. The Techs were originally scheduled to play Kentucky Friday and Saturday, but Kentucky requested a shift in the series. It will be played here on April 30 and May 1, Coach Joe Pittard, of Tech said.

The Tech freshman nine will play Marist at Marist this afternoon at 4 o'clock.

Glock, Neill Hit Homers But Crackers Lose Again

By F. M. WILLIAMS

The Crackers suffered their usual big innings miseries in the third frame Thursday and the Detroit Tigers pushed over six runs to win an easy 8 to 3 victory before 1,113 customers at Ponce de Leon Park.

Norman Brown, who looked pretty good on the whole, was the victim of the third-inning uprising. He contributed a pair of errors on one play that aided the Tigers considerably.

Tom Neill lost one ball in the sun and it went for a double.

With that help from the home club the Tigers added four clean singles and one walk to give Fred Hutchinson, right-handed curve baller, a comfortable working margin and Freddie coasted home.

The Crackers got two of their runs on homers, one by Charley Glock in the second inning and the other by Neill in the seventh. Glock's double followed by a similar blow off the bat of Pinch Hitter Neb Wilson accounted for the other tally in the ninth inning.

It was the fifth straight defeat at the hands of major league clubs that the Crackers have suffered.

Friday the Southern Leaguers go to Gainesville to oppose an all-star team and then return to Ponce de Leon Saturday for the first of two games against the Boston Red Sox.

Two things have been outstanding about the Crackers in their defeats since returning from Spring training in Florida.

They always go through one bad inning, and usually the opposition gets enough runs to win hands down. Then too, they haven't been able to bunch hits and as a result, runs have been scarce.

Thursday was a good example. Paced by Glock's homer and double the Atlantans got 10 safe blows, but actually Hutchinson was never in a hole. The seventh was his worst inning. Neill started that with a homer, then after two men had been retired Fred Chapman and Bob Katz singled but both died as Spec Dozier popped to second.

The Tigers got their last two runs off Katz, who succeeded Brown on the hill in the sixth. One came in the sixth as a result of Neill's error on Ed Merkiewcz's single, after which Jimmy Outlaw also singled, and the other in the seventh on a double, two walks and a fielder's choice.

Manager Ki Ki Cuyler nominated Barney Cook and John Myers, a right hander and a southpaw, to face the Gainesville Stars in Friday's afternoon game.

Giants Clout 3 Homers In Ninth To Beat Tribe

Walker Cooper, Sid Gordon and Les Layton hit successive home runs in the ninth inning Thursday as the New York Giants slugged past the Cleveland Indians, 8 to 4.

The Boston Red Sox played without Ted Williams and several other key regulars, but managed to defeat the New Orleans Pelicans, 6 to 2, Thursday. Catcher Birdie Tebbetts hit a home run in the seventh, his second in two days.

Charlie Keller New York Yankee outfielder hit his first home run of the year in the Yanks' 10-to1 victory over Augusta.

In other exhibition games, the Brooklyn Dodgers made it 22 straight wins with a 7-to-2 conquest of Asheville; the Washington Senators barely edged the Chattanooga club of the Southern Association, 11 to 10; the St. Louis Browns topped the Chicago Cubs, 7 to 6; Birmingham beat the St. Louis Cardinals, 2 to 1 in five innings, and the Philadelphia Phillies came up with a run in the bottom of the ninth to defeat the Philadelphia Athletics, 4 to 3.

Bulldog Nine Meets Auburn

ATHENS, April 8—Coach Charley Trippi's Georgia baseball team bows into Southeastern Conference play Friday and Saturday, meeting the tough Auburn Tigers in Auburn.

Rained out of three of their last four games, the Bulldogs carry a 5-2 record against nonleague opposition into the series.

Trippi plans to use Carl Adams (2-0) and Bo Clifton (1-0) against the Tigers, but is undecided as to who will get the call Friday. Clifton notched a one-hitter against Florida Southern in his only start, while Adams defeated Rollins and Tampa.

Capt. Chub Jenkins, regular first baseman, suffered an ankle injury in the Furman game Monday, but will probably be ready to play Friday.

Monday the Bulldogs return home to open a four-game stand, meeting Clemson Monday, Furman Tuesday and Tennessee Friday and Saturday.

Utility Berths Of Vols Are Set

PENSACOLA, Fla., April 8—(AP) Mgr. Larry Gilbert's Nashville Vols appear to be all set in the matter of utility men as the Southern Association opener nears.

Les Peden, who fields well and who batted .323 for Des Moines last year, seems likely to get the nod for the infield utility post. But Joe Damato, also with Des Moines last year, cannot be counted out of the running.

Carmen Mauro, another Des Moines product, appears certain to be handy man in the outfield. Mauro, who batted .308 last year, was displaced in center field by Charlie Gilbert, who was purchased from the Phillies.

East Point Motors Cards Four Games

Brick Davis' East Point Motors baseball nine will play four games in five days, starting with two tilts Saturday. Doodle Camp and Paul Crain will hurl against Anniston at 2:30 p. m. in Anniston Saturday with Paul Brock and Marvin Gaines facing Carrollton in Carrollton at 8 p. m. that night.

Bremen 'Keys' Rival Windsor's

By BILL BORING
Constitution Roving Reporter

BREMEN—As a girl Mrs. Frederick E. Smith heard the late Dr. George W. Truett, a Baptist minister, preach a sermon from the text, "The Keys of the Kingdom." She recalls today that this was one of the most impressionable events of her life.

Dr. Truett, she says, painted an inspiring word picture of keys and their meaning—keys which could lock you in, lock you out; keys which could open new avenues in life, new vistas of beauty; keys which could win a way to one's heart.

"Ever since hearing that sermon," Mrs. Smith says, "I have thought keys the most wonderful things in the world. And ever since then, I have been a collector of keys."

Collecting keys is a hobby which she enjoys in exclusive company. The only other collectors she knows are members of the British Royal family (who, incidentally, beat her to the key to William Shakespeare's home) and Adrian Conan Doyle, the son of the late Sir Arthur.

Mrs. Smith and her husband, Dr. Smith, Baptist minister here, have traveled extensively in both the Old World and the New. From every house in which they have lived and hotel in which they have been a guest, she has come away with a key. (She pays for hotel room keys which she adds to her collection.)

This makes quite a mountain of keys, but her prize items are such collector's choices as these:

The great key which Sir Walter Scott used to wear swinging from his belt and used to enter the door of his home in The Borders in Scotland. Scoring a clean scoop of Sir Walter's keys, Mrs. Smith also has the front-door one to hi second home in Edinburg.

The key to the Robert Louis Stevenson home and another from Alloway Ayr, the birthplace of Robert Burns. The key to the Stratford-On-Avon home of Judith Shakespeare, daughter of William (she took this as a consolation prize after learning that the Windsors had beat her to William's.) Keys to medieval castles, old Flemish keys, keys to Seventeenth Century dungeons, a key from Rob Roy's country in Scotland; keys from Germany, Italy, Belgium, Mexico.

Most of Mrs. Smith's keys are massive. Some are in brass, some copper and some iron. They are of multiple design, and Mrs. Smith has a keen appreciation of their different characteristics. She looks upon keys much as an artist would view a painting by a contemporary. She sees things in a key which the non-collector would pass up.

Another thing: Mrs. Smith's keys are from places which she has visited and each one, for her, opens the door to the past. It freshens her memory of the visit to the place where it once belonged.

Being a wide open field, key collecting has been a fruitful hobby for Mrs. Smith. Her method of collection is, after visiting some historic old house, to ask the keeper if there isn't an old key lying around somewhere.

The usual reaction is one of perplexion on the part of the keeper. He never heard of anyone wanting a key. But usually he knows where one is, and as likely as not, it turns out to be the front door key which the master himself used to use to get into the place. "You can have it," he says, shaking his head as Mrs. Smith leaves, as pleased as punch.

The hobby of Dr. Smith is collecting commemorative 50-cent pieces. The United States overnment has issued 47 (Georgia's only one was the Stone Mountain Memorial coin). Dr. Smith has 45 of them. The two he lacks—the Missouri and Hawaii coins—would be in there too were it not for the high price they are now bringing.

Those commemorative coins really enhance in value. The Grant Star, issued in 1922, is now worth $65, Dr. Smith cites as an example. For some reason, the Stone Mountain Memorial coin, however, hasn't done so well in the collector's market. It's bringing only about 95 cents today.

Gym Shorts Row May Go To Court

MACON, April 8—(AP)—The Rev. J. R. Hunt, Pastor of the Friends of Jesus Christ Church, Thursday threatened to take his fight with the Board of Education over the wearing of shorts in girls' gym classes to the Supreme Court if necessary.

The Minister said his ward, Helen Myers, 15, has been removed from Lanier High School for Girls because he does not want her to wear shorts in gym classes.

He denied the statement made by Mrs. W. G. Lee, School Principal, that she had offered to permit Miss Myers to take gym in the clothing she wore to school. He said she offered to permit the girl to wear a gym dress which, he said, is as short as gym shorts.

Heavy Profit Cashing Fails To Check Stock Recovery

NEW YORK, April 8—(AP)—The stock market today approached within a shade of its 1948 peak after absorbing a lot of profit cashing on the lengthy drive. The rail average made another high for 18 months.

Dealings, though slow at intervals, crossed the million-mark for the fourteenth session in three weeks. Volume was 1,060,000 shares against 1,160,000 Wednesday.

While many pivotals did little or rested in minus territory, gains of fractions to 2 points or so predominated at the close. Irregularity ruled until after midday when prices hardened in most departments.

Buying still was predicated mainly on the inflationary implications of rearmament, European relief spending and tax reduction.

The coal mine impasse, curtailing production in important industries, remained as a bearish influence. Accounts also were trimmed by those who felt that the past month's bulge called for a good technical correction.

A few aircrafts pushed up on expectations of big military orders. Air transports were more or less indifferent to a boost in aviation mail rates. Scattered carriers exhibited strength but a number in this group slipped.

The Associated Press 60-stock composite was up .1 of a point at 85.9, where it was only .1 under the best level of the year. Of 1,018 issues registering, 440 rose and 319 fell. It was the ninth straight session without an overall decline.

Prices were mixed in the bond market today with a few railroad issues advancing substantially. There was some interest shown in almost every group. Most price changes remained narrow.

Forward movers in the Curb included Cities Service, Creole Petroleum, Kirby Petroleum, Le Tourneau, Thew Shovel (on an earnings jump) and Pantepec. Turnover here was 300,000 shares versus 310,000 yesterday.

Italian Reds Attack U. S. Letter Campaign

ROME, Italy, April 8—(UP)—The Communist-run popular front opened a bitter attack Thursday on the American letter-writing campaign urging Italians to vote down Communism in the April 18 election.

Postal pleas from the United States apparently were taking effect. Avanti, organ of the Left Wing Socialist Party, devoted a full page to its denunciation of the project. It said "hundreds of thousands" of letters were pouring into Italy, and it reprinted some of them.

Meanwhile, the Communist-controlled National Labor Confederation announced Thursday night that the one-hour nationwide strike of 6,000,000 workers set for Monday morning would apply to all public services.

Anti-Communist Labor leaders had supported the strike, which was called to protest the murder of 35 Leftist Labor leaders in Sicily, but they opposed its extension to public services. The Confederation has charged the Government with "complicity" in the assassinations because police did not prevent them.

Communist Labor chiefs said State railroads and bus transport could operate with only essential workers on duty during the strike from 11 a. m. to noon on Monday. Office employees must quit, telephone and cable service except for the Government will be cut, gas, electric and water companies may keep only essential employees to guard against complete breakdowns, and hospitals may maintain only skeleton staffs.

The Left Wing Avanti charged the Christian Democrats with asking aid from American "Fascists." It ran a red eight-column headline, "Letters From America initiated by Blackmailer."

It accused "Generalousos" (Generoso Pope, publisher of New York's Il Progresso Italo Americano, which helped sponsor the letter campaign) of being the "biggest friend of Mussolini in America and today the dearest friend of De Gasperi."

Earlier, Doxa, a national public opinion poll, reported that 40 percent of the Italian people planned to vote for Premier Alcide De Gasperi's Pro-Western Christian Democrats, while only 27 percent favored the Communists when the poll was taken in late March.

THE PRESIDENT'S DAY

Administration Not Ready For World Rule Talks

WASHINGTON, April 8—(AP)—President Truman said Thursday that the Administration is not ready to talk with other nations, including Russia, on forming a world government.

The question came up at a news conference. A reporter said that the St. Louis Times had pointed out in a recent editorial that "one attempt might be made to save our bid for peace if we invited the nations, including Russia, to a conference on the question of a real world government."

Is the Administration ready for such a step? Mr. Truman was asked. He replied: The Administration is not.

Other points touched on in the conference:

Mob raids—Mr. Truman told a questioner that a mob raid on the home of a Communist in Columbus, Ohio, and a fracas at Evansville, Ind., in which supporters of Henry Wallace were injured were both improper. But he said their correction is up to State governments.

Strikes—Mr. Truman said the Administration will enforce the Taft-Hartley law to the letter to end the coal strike, and will apply it equally to the meat strike. That goes for any strike affecting the country as a whole, he said.

Housing—Tighe Woods is doing a good job as housing expediter and will stay on, the President said. He said that the only trouble with the rent control chief was that he had been a little tough on some of these birds who have been gouging the people.

Politics—Mr. Truman had no comment on the Stassen victory in the Republican primary in Wisconsin. He smilingly explained he was not entered in that contest. He said he hadn't read and didn't intend to read a new book by Maurice Milligan, critical of the President's connection with the Pendegast organization in Kansas City.

Paintings—A proposal that captured German paintings be sent on a U. S. tour to raise money for German children was brought up. Mr. Truman said the paintings ought to be returned to their proper owners as soon as it is safe to do so.

On other matters, Mr. Truman:

Said that the question of U. S. support for a Western European military alliance did not come up in his talk with Prime Minister Spaak of Belgium.

Ruled that minutes of the conferences of the four-power commission in Berlin would not be made public at this time.

Remarked that Bernard Baruch was following the same line of thought he has expressed in saying that profits, prices and wages should be drafter if manpower is.

TNT Blasts To Test U. S. Atom Defense

WASHINGTON, April 8—(UP) The Army announced Thursday that explosive tests using TNT charges up to 320,000 pounds will be started June 1 to determine the type of underground defenses the U. S. needs to withstand atom-age bombing.

Lt. Gen. R. A. Wheeler, Chief of Engineers, said the tests will "establish design criteria for future structures and tunnels able to resist enemy bombing . . . the type of underground facilities able to withstand modern bombs and guided missiles."

Wheeler emphasized that no atom bombs will be used in the tests which will be conducted in Central Utah and Western Colorado.

The initial tests will be made at Dugway proving grounds near Salt Lake City, Utah. Subsequent tests will take place there and near Castle Dale, Utah, and Grand Junction, Col.

Wheeler said the tests are aimed "primarily" at determining requirements for "vital military installations" but will be "of value in establishing protection criteria for underground industrial plants should they be required at some future date." He added:

"If the necessity for such facilities should ever arise, the Engineers will then be prepared to supply them, having obtained . . . such basic data as how deep the tunnels should be and the design of underground structures best suited for protection."

'It Shall Not Pass' Is Cry Against 'Rights' Program

WASHINGTON, April 8—(AP)—"It shall not pass," was the cry raised Thursday by Rep. Colmer, Democrat, Mississippi, against President Truman's civil-rights legislation.

He told the House that Southern Democrats:

"Expect to do everything humanly, parliamentarily and politically within our power to see that this program does not become the law of the land."

Colmer is Chairman of a Committee of Southern House members formed to oppose the President's program, which includes antipoll tax, antilynch, antisegregation and fair employment practices legislation.

He said Southern Democrats "would prefer to see the Party go down in ignominous defeat than to surrender the high principles of States' rights of free men, freedom of private enterprise and individual initiative which have not only made the Party a great party, but have made the Nation a great nation."

Gold Star Mothers' Official Succumbs

JOHNSON CITY, N. Y., April 8 (AP)—Mrs. Ellen Kathryn Savercool, National Vice President of the Gold Star Mothers, died Thursday in a hospital after a short illness. She was 78.

Her son, David, was wounded fatally in France during World War I.

WANT COMMERCE RECORDS

Old Law May Force Condon Files Secret

WASHINGTON (NANA)—The dispute between Congress and the Executive branch over Department of Commerce files on Dr. Edward U. Condon, Director of the Bureau of Standards, appeared to hinge on a 45-year-old law.

While the House committee on Un-American Activities, with the assistance of GOP leadership in the House, pushes for a resolution calling for all Commerce Department records on Condon, legal aids of the Committee are preparing to refresh the memory of Commerce Sec. Averell Harriman concerning the statutes which set up his department in 1903. This enabling act, passed in February of that year, contains the following paragraph:

"The Secretary of Commerce also, from time to time, will make such special reports as he may be required to do by the Preside t, or by either House of Congress, or which he himself may deem necessary or urgent."

The House Committee construes this paragraph as pertinent in the battle over Condon's records. Condon, whom the Committee several weeks ago called the weakest link in atomic-energy security, was the subject of Federal Bureau of Investigation inquiry. The report on this investigation is a Department of Commerce secret, despite requests for the files by the House Committee. Harriman, in refusing the Committee's requests, has labeled the attack on Condon Un-American.

In taking up the battle on behalf of the House Committee, Speaker Joseph Martin and other Republican leaders insist that the people are entitled to be apprised of the associations of any Federal officials engaged in secret Government work. In addition, Martin has stated that the argument between the Executive and the Legislative branches must be settled.

President Truman injected himself into the dispute by instructing Harriman to refuse to turn over the Condon files. The instructions covered all Executive Administrators. In substance it informed Administrators that they have the right to decide what is to be made public and what is to be kept secret. This is a censorship function, illegal and dangerous, critics point out, despite Mr. Truman's assurances that the executive does not intend to screen Congressional requests for information.

Critics fear major Congressional investigations may be sorely hampered if the President is successful in keeping the Condon files secret. They are afraid that political considerations will be the guide in the future, when it comes to releasing information.

'TANK UP' PERILED AT GAS STATIONS

EVANSTON, Ill., Apail 8—(INS)—It's going to get harder to "tank up" at gasoline filling stations.

The Women's Christian Temperance Union joined the American Automobile Association Thursday in its campaign against the sale of alcoholic beverages at gas stations.

National WCTU Pres. Mrs. D. Leigh Colvin urged local WCTU groups to campaign actively in 29 States for legislation to make legal the maxim that "gasoline and alcohol do not mix."

Ken Hagan won second prize. Third prize winners were William Bankey, Ralph Richards and Rush Rubin. And fourth prize winners were James Fontain, Anthony Cramer, V. Z. Boyer, G. M. Moon, J. Q. Evans and T. E. Lau.

Music Festival Will Show Progress of School Bands

The Greater Atlanta Music Festival, coming as it does near the end of the school year, "gives us one last goal to work toward, an opportunity to demonstrate the progress we have made during the previous months of study and practice," Miss Grace O'Callaghan, Music Supervisor of Atlanta Schools, declared Thursday as plans for The Constitution and WCON-sponsored festival progressed rapidly.

"The outdoor Music Festival presented by The Atlanta Constitution in past years proved to be a spectacular show and a very happy occasion for participants as well as spectators. I feel sure all our school bands and directors are pleased that the Festival is to be revived this year. I particularly value the Festival because it gives me a chance to see our bands in action under ideal conditions. I'm deeply interested and gratified to note evidence of development and growth from year to year. I am grateful to The Constitution and WCON for this evidence of interest in school music and for the particular stimulation the Festival gives school bands," Miss O'Callaghan added.

The colorful attraction, one of the leading outdoor civic events of the nation, will be held May 15 at Grant Field. There will be no admission charge.

Will Appeal Case Of Negro Family

NEW YORK, April 8—(AP)—The case of a Negro woman and her two teen-age sons, whose original sentences to death were changed by the trial judge to life imprisonment, will be appealed to the Georgia Supreme Court.

Announcement that the fate of Rosa Lee Ingram and her sons, Wallace, 16, and Sammie Lee, 14, was far from settled was made Thursday by Thurgood Marshall, special counsel for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

Marshall said that A. T. Walden, Atlanta Negro Attorney, would aid him in the appeal.

The death sentences were set aside by Judge William M. Harper who ruled that the mother and sons were convicted on circumstantial evidence.

Under Georgia law, the Ingrams would become eligible for parole after serving seven years of the life sentence.

They were convicted of killing a white tenant farmer in an argument over a mule.

Quick Quips

By JOE LAURIE, JR.

Robert Shaw, greatest of our choral conductors, likes the one about the prima donna who at the end of her song let out a shriek and fled from the stage. She had seen a mouse. She thought she had ruined her career but the manager told her that her final high C was the finest he had ever heard and that the audience was clamoring for an encore. The prima donna said, "I can't repeat that high note unless you get another mouse!"

Cotton Oil Group Emphatic for CIO

Employees of the Southern Cotton Oil Company in Tifton have voted 51 to 1 for the CIO-United Stone and Allied Product Workers, Van A. Bittner, National Director of the CIO Organizing Committee, announced in Atlanta Thursday.

Bittner also pointed to the just released February report of the National Labor Relations Board as proof the Taft-Hartley Act "has so decimated the NLRB and embroiled it in so much red tape" it can process only a fraction of its cases. The report showed a backlog of 9,468 cases.

One Never Knows Where Life May Lead

FRIDAY, APRIL 9, 1948

Suggestion of the Day: While the rain keeps visiting the farms, it might be a good idea to investigate the possibilities of irrigation. Sooner or later the heavens will dry up and the vegetable garden will become parched. There is nothing more important to health and enjoyment than a flourishing garden. And it must have water. The Extension Service through its specialist, Everett Davis, is ready and anxious to survey your irrigation needs without cost to you. Make arrangements through your County Agent.

Wind Passed Through the Sales Room

One never knows really what his life may amount to, nor is he even certain the direction it will take. At the Fat Cattle Show dinner in Rome the other night, a distinguished cattle breeder told of his initiation into the cattle industry through a mistake on the part of the auctioneer at a cattle sale.

A wind passed through the sales room; the gentleman grabbed at his hat and blinked his eyes to keep out the dust, and he discovered too late he had bought an $800 animal. This started him into the livestock business. And he now has more than 200 animals.

What brings on all this talk is that 38 years ago today this writer began his first voyage across the Atlantic Ocean in what was presumed to be the beginning of a seagoing career. With high hopes and unbounded ambition to scale the heights of this rugged profession, he could never have foreseen he would wind up his career as a farmer. For almost 11 years we sailed the ocean blue, as they sing about it in Pinafore, and experienced the joys of adventure and travel. Both in the Navy and in tramp merchant vessels we deemed our life the best there could possibly be. Then suddenly it palled and we had had enough of it.

Whether it was the pull of the good earth or merely the desire for a complete change, or whether it was the fact we had been without solid firmanent beneath our feet during a period of years when to do so was normal, there is no way of telling. One thing is positive: we began a steady and enthusiastic trek back to the land and it now had us completely. It took us 20 years of earning, buying, subduing, experimenting, refining and redoing to establish the farm to our liking, and there still is plenty to do.

Some of the factors we have been trying to piece together into a complete picture have just now come to light. But these years have been interesting and expressive, and have brought pleasure. They have taught us that the fun is in the doing and not in the end results merely. We find our experience to be no different from that of our friends. Almost everyone had a deep urge to get back on the land and stir around in the soil. Maybe it is nature's way of insuring a constant supply of producers; if so, she adds many benefits to the doing of the task. At any rate we're glad she tagged us before it was too late.

'April Showers' Exhumes Vaudeville for Films

By PAUL JONES

The fleeting years of vauleville were crammed full of more color, more music and more romance than any era in American history. Eddie Cantor was a budding star in Ziegfield's Follies; Al Jolson was crooning "Mammy" with his blackface on, and George M. Cohan and Irving Berlin were just hitting their strides along Tin Pan Alley.

That era has provided the movies with innumerable good themes for movies—"My Wild Irish Rose," "Coney Island," "Yankee Doodle Dandy," etc. It's a theme that never wears out. It brings back fond memories for mom and dad.

ANN SOTHERN

"April Showers," which opened Thursday at the Paramount, is based on that type of theme. There are more than 12 oldies in the melodic parade of bygone hits. Jack Carson and Ann Sothern are the troupers who are doing a fade-out in vaudeville. Their son becomes an entertainer and keeps them out of the breadline.

But "April Showers" deviates from the tried and true in that it indulges in scenes with excessive drinking and fighting.

Casanova at Roxy

The Roxy opened Thursday with a new feature, "Adventures of Casanova," starring Arturo De Cordova, Lucille Bremer and Turhan Bey. This is an adventure yarn which splashes costumes and adventure with generous portions of romance and thrills thrown in.

Deeper Channel From Augusta To Savannah Urged

SAVANNAH, April 8—(AP)—A conference to discuss the digging of a channel from Savannah to Augusta which would have a 9 to 12 foot controlling depth and be suitable for year-around operation, was held here Thursday with Col. Strong, U. S. District Engineer, presiding.

Approximately 20 persons representing the Augusta Chamber of Commerce, the Savannah Port Authority and industrial and railroad companies of Savannah and Augusta attended the meeeting. The informal session was for the purpose of determining the economic feasibility of the project.

The Government currently is making a survey reviewing the report which will deal with the set-up on the Savannah River Basin Project.

Charles F. Trainor, assistant district engineer, who attended the meeting, said the present controlling depth is only seven feet, its operation being contingent upon the season of the year. The proposed set-up, he said, will be a "great improvement" and will afford dependable navigation the year around, regardless of the season.

Cobb Talks To Royston Home Folks

SPECIAL TO THE CONSTITUTION

ROYSTON, April 8—Ty Cobb, world-famous baseball figure, spoke to the Royston Exchange Club at their luncheon Thursday. Cobb is in his home town to discuss plans for the Cobb Memorial Hospital.

During his talk, Cobb stated more attention should be placed on education in Georgia. "We must look after the mechanical and teaching needs of our schools. Our citizens of tomorrow are the most vaulable asset we have," he said.

The talk came after Supt. J. M. Dean, of Royston schools, gave the club a picture of the school situation here. Cobb was introduced by one of his former teammates and host, Dr. S. D. Brown.

The "Georgia Peach" recalled that his father, Prof. Hershal Cobb, served as a teacher and School Commissioner and later in the State Senate where he was the first to advance the idea of consolidation of rural schools.

The Exchange Club is in the midst of an athletic program for the Royston School. Among its objectives is an auditorium gymnasium and an athletic field.

Local lumbermen have donated enough lumber to fence in the athletic field and a project for the lighting of the field is now in progress.

Cobb will be the guest of Dr. and Mrs. Brown for several days before returning to his home in California. During that time plans for the Cobb Memorial Hospital will be discussed. Work on the new hospital to which Cobb gave $199,999 should begin during the summer.

No one heard the quiet door when it opened when the call came for you to come home you were ready to answer the Master's call. We do miss you so much. Seemingly now we can hear the echo of your sweet voice singing:
"Must Jesus bear the Cross alone,
And all the world go free?
No, there's a Cross for every one,
And there's a Cross for me."

SALLY FORTH Says:

Hospitality, Southern Style, Dished Up at Floweracres

Visitors from the North and Far West were served up a fine sample of Southern hospitality at the al-fresco supper at which Donald and Louise Hastings entertained at their lovely country home, Floweracres, for national officers and directors of the Men's Garden Club of America.

A tour over the gardens, naturally, preceded supper, with nationally known horticulturists paying enviable compliments to these two ardent gardeners. The home was decorated after the manner one would expect of an outstanding arrangement artist. Guests went into ecstasies over the centerpiece in the dining room, an arrangement of yellow tulips and white snapdragons. Mrs. J. J. Rockwell, of Nyack, N. Y., national authority on flower arranging, said that she had never seen great masses of flowers used with such artistry as in a six-foot combination of pink weigela and pink dogwood in a Chinese urn which reached almost to the ceiling of the living room.

Food was typically Southern—fried chicken, strawberry shortcake, peach pickles, scuppernong preserves and cheese bread—all of which tasted more delicious as guests sat upon the terrace and looked out upon a broad sweep of lush green.

The occasion also was a birthday celebration for Donald—complete with candle-lighted cake and "Happy Birthday to You," sung by such notables as Dr. Ray C. Allen, American Rose Society Secretary; Paul Freese, Flower Grower Editor, and F. F. Rockwell, Editor of Home Garden.

Widow To Wed

Plans are complete and the date is set for a May 1st marriage of one of the city's most attractive young widows and an equally attractive young bachelor.

The future bride is petite and blonde, and her children are popular members of the young set. She lives on a fashionable thoroughfare of the Northside and is one of three sisters.

The groom-to-be is the son of a former city official and is connected with an Atlanta concern of national renown.

Will the formal announcement reveal their secret, or are you good at guessing?

Fairlie Twins Celebrate Birthdays

Though those gifted Atlantans, Eugenia Snow and the Fairlie twins, Lucia and Margaret, work like beavers all day long at their New York studios, they manage to find time in which to frolic now and then. Margaret will graduate in June from the Juillard School. Lucia attends the Art Students League, where she studies painting, lithographing and engraving. Eugenia, who is already enjoying marked success as a pianist, is studying under Edwin Hughes.

For the first time since they were six years old, the birthday of the twins fell this year on Easter. So their sister, Lillian, who is a social service worker in Philadelphia, decided to give them a surprise party.

Lillian drove to New York in her car, and took the twins on a drive up the Hudson to see Bear Mountain, and back to Manhattan. The trio was joined at the French Restaurant there by Peggy Freeman, who shares an apartment with Lucia; Dot Berea, Lucia's former college mate who has been dancing with Martha Graham, and Eugenia. Venison was the piece de resistance of the delicious meal which followed.

When dessert time came, the waiter brought in twin birthday cakes, baked in the shape of Easter eggs, and lighted with tiny pink candles. A huge party was in progress at the next table, and when the guests saw the twin cakes, they sent their waiter over with a candle-lighted cup cake to signify that they too were having a birthday celebration. At that moment the entire dining room burst forth with "Happy Birthday to You."

As an after treat, Drew Fairlie, a student at Notre Dame, came to New York on tour with the Notre Dame orchestra. Yesterday was his birthday, so after a year's separation, he and the twins celebrated his natal day together.

Late Victorian Cowers in Fear

By DORIS LOCKERMAN,
Women's News Editor

This week, while all Atlanta pulsates to the radiance of tulip shows, dogwood caravansaries and garden tours, I am here cowering in fear of a flower arrangement.

At this moment it is only a murky threat, my flower arrangement, a filmy shadow casting its awful skeleton into the nebulous future with a neon symmetry, but I have a feeling it is closing in on me.

I can begin to see the day of judgment . . . April 28 . . . that day when we Spade and Trowel Clubbers line up with our floral handiwork in the whitewashed garage of Mrs. King Grant to be adjudged. I can already feel the color rising to my sunken cheeks as my friends find out about my affliction and unveil me as a gardening hoax.

I cannot arrange a flower.

I know it is weak and unwomanly, an admission harsh and foreign like the declaration of a female saying she hates the sight of children or wouldn't be caught dead in a hostess gown, but now it is out.

For years I have planned outdoor Summer parties for those who might be critical of my lack of green thumbery inside. Nobody knows how many delightful people I have sidetracked from my hospitality because they would find out about my arrangements.

I have tried to be blithe and merry about this enfeeblement with old friends, hoping to brush its importance aside, but each time I attempt it I am caught out on my own little Hogarth curve . . . alone.

Only two nights ago a gay and humorous comrade called about another matter. I found myself murmuring to her about my suppressed desire to some day own the proper container, the proper accessory, the proper flower with the proper stem and the proper twig line at one and the same moment.

"I will teach you," she offered graciously. "If there is any one thing I do know, it is flower arrangement. I have studied it from the finest teachers in America . . . and I admit I have a kind of special knack for it. Even my husband says my arrangements are as good for a room as a fine picture.

"But," she went on, her voice filling with incredulity, "would you believe it . . . I took an examination the other day from Mrs. So-and-So . . . and I failed the test."

I roared with laughter. I remembered the time the president of an organization (not the Spade and Trowelers) refused to submit a piece of publicity copy I had written for a local editor. Absolutely atrocious copy, she had called it.

"Wasn't that funny! Weren't you amused?" I rushed at her, losing myself in a sudden feeling of companionship. "I can't think of anything funnier!"

Her reply was subdued, hurt.

"No," she said coolly, "it wasn't funny at all. I don't know when a thing has hurt me more in all my life."

No sooner had she said good-bye than the phone rang again.

"This is Corinne Reynolds," said the familiar voice. "One of the girls in the garden club has lost her ticket and she doesn't know what she is in our flower show. If you can tell me what you are, Doris, I can tell, by elimination, what she is."

I scurried to my purse, drew from the coin department a bedraggled little slip of paper hidden there three months ago, as something to think about later. I went back to the telephone.

"Hello, Corinne," I said, trying to sound bright, "I am late Victorian."

Now I can't say I lost my ticket.
I am indeed late Victorian.

Tomato Sauce

Tomato sauce may be made by using a standard recipe for medium white sauce and substituting tomato juice for the milk. The sauce may then be flavored with basil or another herb.

French Toast

French toast is a delicious way to use up stale bread. Two slices of the toast may be sandwiched with raspberry or strawberry jam, cut into attractive strips and given a light dusting of powdered sugar.

'FUN WITH FURS'

Coats With Collars, Cuffs Seen in Fall Parade

By MAYNITA GERRY

The calendar says it's April. The weatherman predicts that Summer is just around the corner. But don't let these things fool you. It may be Spring everywhere else in the country, but it's Fall in the halls of fashion.

And it's Fall at J. P. Allen's this week, where you can drop in at any time and do a little star gazing at their advance showing of furs . . . without obligation, of course, unless you "simply can't resist that little mink cape over there."

On the other hand if you can't trust yourself within feeling distance of lovely, luxuriant furs without straining a financial point, they have fortified some of these same new furs behind the plate glass in their windows, which they're calling "Fun with Furs."

There will be a fur workshop, authentic in every detail from cutting board to knife, needle and thread as well as numerous bundes of skins scattered about.

In addition, you'll see the finished product—or products . . . fur wraps as they will appear in the Fall fashion parade.

These are things you'll want to pay particular attention to, whether actually shopping, "just looking, thank you," or planning to begin negotiations sometime soon for having your last year's (maybe the year before) fur coat restyled and the worn places replaced.

Every coat will and must have a collar. Peter Pan, perhaps, or a modified shawl collar (heralding the return, furriers believe), of the huge, shoulder-embracing shawl collar of a few seasons back) or a high-standing, straight-cut collar that buttons up into a soft roll around the neck. And every sleeve must have a cuff, one that turns back and flares slightly upward to compliment the slimmer look of sleeves in general. The armholes are deeper, generally, and the shoulders are almost natural with very little padding.

The three-quarter length coat, like the one pictured, will be very good this Fall, and Mr. George, Allen's skilled new fur stylist, suggests this as an excellent method for restyling an old coat. The pelts that are snipped off the bottom can be reincorporated to give additional fullness to the coat, another important factor in the new coats. They're full and graceful, whether flared or straight. One in particular is a full-length nutria, cut straight, with full gathers stemming from a small under-collar yoke. It has a shawl collar and flared cuffs over the ingathering of fullness at the wrists.

There is a black broadtail with an almost polished sheen that is three-quarter length, also with a shawl collar and fullness achieved through carefuly manipulated gores swelling out below fitted shoulders.

Capes will probably see their biggest season yet, according to Mr. George, who says this is also another excellent way to rehabilitate an old coat.

FUR FORECAST — Here's a preview of what your fur coat (let's hope) will look like this fall. As you can see, it's three-quarter length with a back-dipping hemline, very full, flaring back and upstanding rolled collar. The fur? It's nutria —from J. P. Allen's.

CRAB MEAT AU GRATIN
(From "Scnadinavian Cookery for Americans.")

- 2 to 3 cups cooked crab meat
- 2 cups rich cream sauce
- Salt and pepper
- Tabasco or Worcestershire sauce
- ½ to ¾ cup bread crumbs
- ¼ cup grated cheese

Mix the crab meat with the cream sauce. Season with a little salt and pepper if needed. Pour this into a buttered baking dish and sprinkle with mixed cheese and crumbs. Brown in a hot oven till delicately golden on top. Keep hot on the buffet table. Variation: For Crab Meat Newburg omit the cheese and crumbs from the preceding recipe. Add 1 or 2 tablespoons sherry and the same amount of cognac to the sauce just as it comes off the heat. Combine with the crab meat and turn into the upper part of a chafing dish.

BAKED FISH

Roll frozen fillets of mackerel, salmon, red snapper, black bass, sea bass, flounder or haddock and dip first into salted milk (1½ teaspoons salt in ½ cup milk), then roll in fine bread crumbs, place in oiled baking dish and sprinkle with melted butter. Bake in a moderate oven (375 degrees) for 15 to 20 minutes or until easily pierced with a fork.

Serve with melted butter, lemon butter, cheese sauce or Sauce Meuniere. Sauce Meuniere is made by adding 1 tablespoon of butter and one teaspoon of lemon juice to the browned juice in the pan in which the fish was baked. This recipe is from The Bride's Cook Book . . . planning for two servings.

FILLET OF SOLE, MARGUERY

- 4 frozen fillets of sole
- ½ cup Sauterne or Rhine wine
- 1 tablespoon lemon juice
- ¼ butter or margarine
- Salt, pepper and paprika
- ½ lemon, sliced
- 1 tablespoon flour
- 3 tablespoons cream
- 1 egg yolk, slightly beaten
- ½ teaspoon sugar

Arrange fillets in buttered baking dish. Pour on wine, lemon juice and 3 tablespoons of the melted butter or margarine. Sprinkle with salt, pepper and paprika. Top with lemon slices. Bake in a hot oven for 15 to 20 minutes, or until fish begin to flake. Transfer fish to hot platter and keep hot.

Prepare sauce as follows: Melt remaining 1 tablespoon butter or margarine. Blend in the flour. Add hot wine mixture in which fish was baked. Cook, stirring constantly, until thickened and smooth. Add cream to beaten egg yolk. Pour small amount of hot sauce in egg-yolk mixture. Add to remaining hot sauce. Cook for 1 minute over very low flame, or over hot water. Add sugar. Sprinkle chopped parsley over fish fillets. Serve topped with sauce.

CREOLE HALIBUT

- 1½ pounds halibut or other fish
- 2 cups canned tomatoes
- 1 small onion, minced
- 2 tablespoons fat
- 1 teaspoon salt
- ½ clove garlic
- 1 bay leaf
- Speck cayenne pepper.

Arrange fish on a greased baking pan and sprinkle with salt. Melt fat in pan and simmer the onion and garlic until tender. Remove the garlic, add 2 cups canned tomatoes, bay leaf, salt and cayenne pepper and boil. Pour this sauce over the fish and bake until done, basting several times with the sauce.

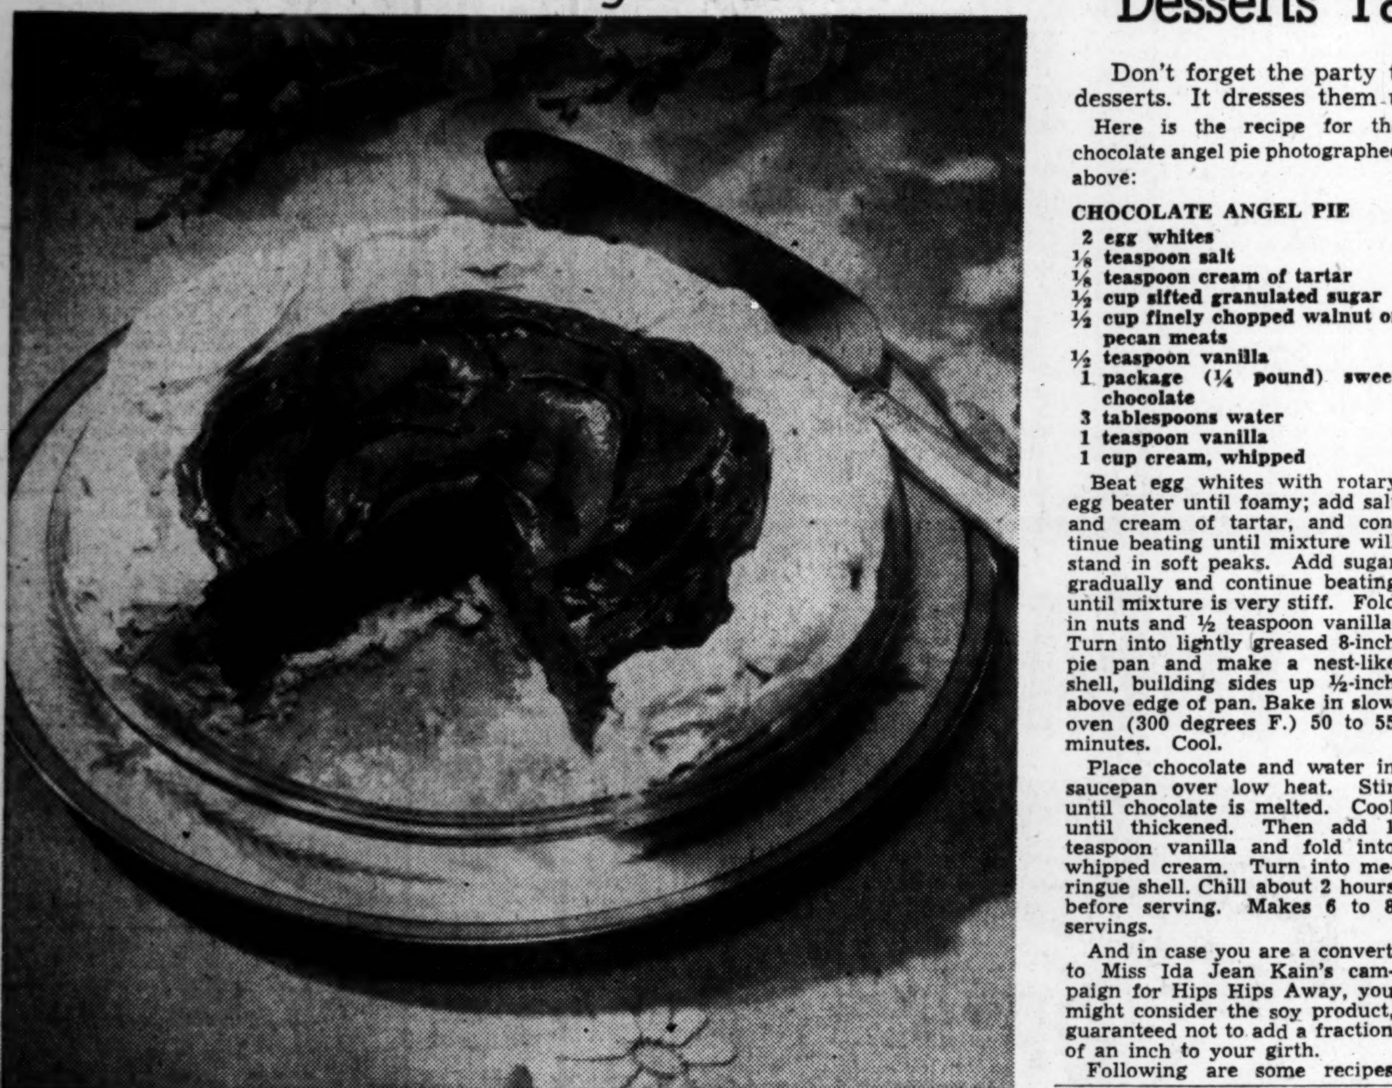
Chocolate Angel Pie



This looks like culinary magic, but wait till you see how easily this chocolate masterpiece can be baked. Nuts are folded into the meringue and baked as a crust. A sweet chocolate filling is added to complete a glamorous pie.

NON-FATTENING, TOO

Desserts Tasty With Whipped Topping

By SALLY SAVER

Don't forget the party taste of whipped cream and whipped toppings for every-day desserts. It dresses them up like an orchid perks up an old costume!

Here is the recipe for the chocolate angel pie photographed above:

CHOCOLATE ANGEL PIE

- 2 egg whites
- 1/8 teaspoon salt
- 1/8 teaspoon cream of tartar
- 1/2 cup sifted granulated sugar
- 1/2 cup finely chopped walnut or pecan meats
- 1/2 teaspoon vanilla
- 1 package (1/4 pound) sweet chocolate
- 3 tablespoons water
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- 1 cup cream, whipped

Beat egg whites with rotary egg beater until foamy; add salt and cream of tartar, and continue beating until mixture will stand in soft peaks. Add sugar gradually and continue beating until mixture is very stiff. Fold in nuts and 1/2 teaspoon vanilla. Turn into lightly greased 8-inch pie pan and make a nest-like shell, building sides up 1/2-inch above edge of pan. Bake in slow oven (300 degrees F.) 50 to 55 minutes. Cool.

Place chocolate and water in saucepan over low heat. Stir until chocolate is melted. Cool until thickened. Then add 1 teaspoon vanilla and fold into whipped cream. Turn into meringue shell. Chill about 2 hours before serving. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

And in case you are a convert to Miss Ida Jean Kain's campaign for Hips Hips Away, you might consider the soy product, guaranteed not to add a fraction of an inch to your girth.

Following are some recipes planned for interchangeable toppings, depending on your weight consciousness:

ANGEL PIE

- 1/4 teaspoon cream of tartar
- 3/4 teaspoon almond extract
- 2 tablespoons lemon juice
- 2 teaspoons lemon rind
- 4 eggs (separate)
- 1 1/2 cups sugar
- 1/4 cup water
- 1/2 pint Whip Topping or whipped cream

Beat egg whites until frothy, add cream of tartar then beat until stiff. Gradually add 1 cup of sugar and almond extract. Spread in greased pie plate. Bake in oven 325 degrees 40 minutes. Cool. Beat egg yolks, add remaining sugar, lemon juice, rind and water, cook until thick, cool. Whip Whip Topping until stiff, spread half on meringue shell, then cover with lemon mixture, and remaining topping. Chill several hours in the refrigerator.

GRAHAM CRACKER DATE AND NUT ROLL

- 1 1/2 cups graham crackers
- 1 cup dates (cut in pieces with wet scissors)
- 2 tablespoons orange juice
- 1/2 pint Whip Topping
- 6 marshamllows (if obtainable)
- 1/4 cup chopped nut meats
- Salt

Pour orange juice over dates, add pinch of salt, fold into 1/2 cup of Whip Topping. Add marshmallows and nuts. Fold in crumbs. Reserve one tablespoon which should be sprinkled on a sheet of heavy wax paper brushed with margarine. Put date mixture onto paper and shape into long roll about 3 inches in diameter. Roll up paper, place in refrigerator for about 12 hours, cut into 1/2-inch slices and serve with remaining Whip Topping which has been whipped and sweetened to taste. Serves 8.

An excellent dessert to prepare in the morning when entertaining in the evening.

PEACH UPSIDE DOWN CAKE

- 4 peach halves and 3 teaspoons juice
- 3/4 cup sugar
- 1 egg
- 3/4 cup milk
- 1 1/2 cups flour
- Salt
- 1/4 cup nut meats
- 3/4 cup light brown sugar
- 2 tablespoons margarine
- 1/2 cup Whip Topping or whipped cream
- 6 tablespoons shortening
- 3 teaspoons baking powder
- 1/2 teaspoon vanilla or almond

Grease a Pyrex dish or heavy pan. Put brown sugar, nuts, sliced fruit, juice and margarine in bottom of pan. Place in oven set at 350 degrees and heat while assembling rest of cake. This heats dish and helps to caramelize mixture. Cream sugar and shortening, add egg and flavoring. Then add sifted dry ingredients alternately with milk. Place on fruit and bake for about 30 minutes. Remove from pan as soon as it is taken from oven. Serve either warm or cold with whipped topping.

Motorists Warned

DALTON, April 8—A warning to local as well as transient motorists to observe Dalton traffic laws has come from Police Chief Jack Hayes, who said that two new motorcycle patrolmen are being put into service.

New Stoves On Market

Stove, that baleful old iron model in the movie, "The Egg and I," would be completely ill at ease with the new cooking equipment on the market now.

There are smooth-lined new jobs that do everything but remind the children to wash their hands and brush their hair before they sit down at the table.

One new stove has eight burners, properly separated by white space on which to place extra pans; twin ovens, twin broilers and a barbecue pit rolled up in its white porcelain shell, and it is trimmed, actually, with gold and silver.

It has such features as a tempered plate . . . patented for even distribution of heat; a rolled heavy aluminum griddle of imposing size, a clock that practically makes up the cook's mind for her, and . . . at long last . . . a draining vessel under the broiler where juice and fat may be captured for development into gravy on top of the stove. It ends the whole fear of a smoking broiler and makes sauceless, dry broiled meats a thing of the past.

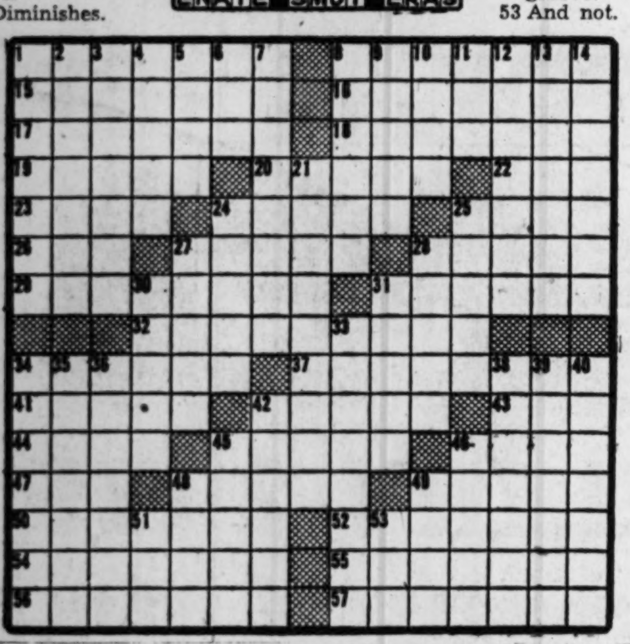
Solution to Yesterday's Puzzle



Police Blotter

HABIT BREAKER — Fulton County Dets. I. M. Eason and L. W. Cook believe they have found a "sure cure" for sufferers from the drink habit. The cure is apparently deadly, however. The officers said Willie Slaughter, Palmetto Negro, ordered the "medicine" for her mother, Gertrude Henry, and slipped a liberal dose into a half-pint of whiskey. A few sips brought Gertrude convulsions. She refused to touch the whiskey thereafter. She related her experience with the mysterious bottle Wednesday to a friend, Lugenia Elder, who had said she wanted a drink. Lugenia, 50, was unimpressed. She drained the bottle. Convulsions and death followed. Dr. Herman Jones is analyzing the "curative" concoction.

TOO MANY PENS — George Williams, of 179 Piedmont Ave., N. E., was in jail Thursday because he had too many fountain pens. According to City Dets. E. H. Harkins and W. A. Jones, Williams' name appeared too often in pawn shop records they were checking at police headquarters. Noting that he had pawned several fountain pens, they became suspicious. After taking him into custody, the officers learned that he was employed as porter at a drug store in downtown Atlanta where more than $100 worth of fountain pens were reported missing. He was charged with suspicion of larceny.

BURGLARS ACTIVE—Burglars, relatively quiet for the past week, resumed their activity Thursday, police said. Reports show that prowlers entered the home of Mrs. J. A. Thomas, 294 Augusta Ave., and removed a radio, pistol and a quantity of costume jewelry. . . . Clothing and jewelry was the loot taken from the home of L. N. Daniel, 915 Eden Ave., S. W. . . . W. C. Teden, of 44 Bass St., S. W., reported losing $70 in cash to intruders who entered his home through a back door. . . . But the $75 in money which was in the cash register at the Silver Grill, 900 N. Boulevard, N. E., was not enough for burglars who broke into the establishment during the night. They took the cash register too.

WRECKS HURT FIVE — Mrs. Jane Fortier, of 275 Collier Rd., N. E., and her two small children, Michael, three, and Janice, one, were injured Thursday afternoon when the car in which they were riding collided with another automobile at Stewart Avenue and Shelton Street. All three were treated at Grady Hospital for bruises and lacerations. Howard J. Healey, driver of the second car, was not injured. . . . In another section of the City, James E. Banks, of 546 Holly St., and Kenneth Williams, 10, of the same address were treated at Grady Hospital for injuries they received when their car, driven by Banks, crashed into a street car on Simpson Street.

STILL SPRY AT 87—T. F. Arnall, 87, of Hollywood, Fla., still has plenty of ginger despite his age, police said Thursday. Arnall was bound over to Fulton Superior Court under $100 bond on a charge of assault and battery after he allegedly struck his daughter, Mrs. Ethel Little, of 54 The Prado, N. E., across the neck with a walking cane. Police Sgt. C. W. Blackwell and Patrolman T. M. Stribling arrested Arnall on a complaint by his daughter.

A new executive committee was elected as follow: W. S. Hays, chairman; Edgar Schukraft, vice chairman; C. G. Christian, treasurer; Miss Anna Crawley, secretary. Other members of the committee named were Norman I. Miller, Tom Thompson, A. L. Bailey, Mrs. E. Stewart, Gen. George Van Horne Moseley, Henry C. Davis, Josiah T. Rose, Fred Sorrow, Jr., Doyal McWhorter and Frank Doughman.

LEONARD ACQUITTED — An Army handkerchief shielded Arthur Leonard, of Conley, from conviction Thursday on a charge of public indecency. Judge Jesse Wood acquitted the 26-year-old war veteran when none of the witnesses against him said they had seen him naked. They said they saw him wearing only a handkerchief in a diaperlike arrangement round his loins. Capt. Fred Bradford, of the County Police, testified Leonard admitted driving about the southeast section of Atlanta clad only in a handkerchief, a custom Bradford quoted the defendant as saying he took up while serving in the European war theater. Two women witnesses testified they could not identify the man positively with the clothes on. In dismissing the case, Judge Wood said: "I don't think the evidence measures up to the requirements, but if you keep this up, sooner or later somebody is going to beat or shoot you to death." Leonard was represented by Attys. Anthony May and R. T. Reeves.

EAST POINT SUIT—Nine East Point taxpayers have filed suit against County Manager A. E. Fuller, and members of the County Commission seeking to compel them to allocate sewer bond funds within the City of East Point. They stated the County legal department had ruled that such bond money may legally be spent only in unincorporated areas and attacked the validity of this ruling. Petitioners were J. H. Blair, W. B. Luck, C. C. Poteet, J. B. Barber, W. H. Martin, S. D. Kidd, Jr., W. Y. Keeler, Fred T. Etris and W. H. Phillips.

MISTRIAL—A mistrial was declared in the trial for involuntary manslaughter before Judge Bond Almand of Dock Jones, Negro, when the jury failed to reach a verdict. Jones was accused of running down and killing Mrs. J. G. Holtzclaw while driving an automobile.

Slum Inspections 'Limited'

The interiors of privately owned homes will not be inspected in the slum clearance campaign if the grounds and surrounding areas are well kept.

City Bldg. Insp. Marvin Harper Thursday modified the inspection procedures after he and Walter S. McNeal, Jr., owner of about 50 rental units, conferred following McNeal's blast against the operation of Harper's inspectors.

Harper and McNeal settled their differences after Harper agreed to exempt from interior inspections McNeal's home at 373 Windsor St., S. W.; the home of McNeal's late mother at 389 Windsor St., and the home of McNeal's son, Scott, at 294 Rawson St.

Following the conference, McNeal said he had no intention of attempting to cripple the slum-clearance campaign. He added, "It is a fine undertaking and one in which I have been interested for 18 years. I have served as a member of the City Planning Commission, but I do not think the privacy of an individual's own home should be invaded."

Harper's inspectors were accused of violating the privacy of homes in that area, and McNeal threatened to take the issue to the courts. McNeal said he had no objection to the inspection of the properties he rents, but leveled his fire solely against the invasion of his own home by city inspectors.

Your City Hall

LAMB ELECTION SEEN—R. L. Lamb, who has served as Acting Manager of the Municipal Auditorium since Burt Wellborn, Manager, resigned under fire, is slated to be elected by Council to fill Wellborn's unexpired term. Lamb emerged Wednesday as a dark horse after members of Council's Buildings and Athletics Committee appeared deadlocked over a candidate for the post. It now appears that Mayor Hartsfield and Ald. Raleigh Drennon, Building Committee Chairman, who were empowered to select a nominee to replace Wellborn, will settle on Lamb. H. H. Neibruegge, a maintenance engineer at Conley Depot, and Ed L. Adams, Joe Brown High schoolteacher, were considered leading contenders for the post but neither has sufficient votes to insure election. Wellborn's unexpired term runs until the first Monday in January, 1950.

ORAL TEST—Eleven candidates will be subjected to oral interviews at 2 p. h. Monday for qualification as assistant Auditorium manager. Among the group will be Horace Crowe, Acting Assistant Manager. Several City employees from other departments are among those slated for the quizzing.

TULIPS FLOODLIGHTED—Atlanta's most attractive downtown beauty spot—Hurt Park with its blaze of tulip blooms—has been floodlighted so those who cannot visit the show place during daylight hours may see it under the klieg lights. City parks officials installed the lighting arrangements a the suggestion of Mayor Hartsfield.

NEW PERMIT SYSTEM — A new system providing pre-numbering of electrical permits will be installed May 1 in the office of Dewey Johnson, Superintendent of Electrical Affairs. The decision followed conferences between Johnson and Councilman John A. White, Chairman of Council's Electric Lights Committee. White also announced that Council will be asked at its April 19 meeting to cancel about $2,500 worth of old fifas dating as far back as 1917. Both changes were recommended by City auditors.

PUBLIC HEALTH WEEK — Mayor Hartsfield has issued a proclamation setting the week of April 11-17 as Public Health Nursing Week in Atlanta. Present during the ceremony at which the mayor affixed his signature were Dr. James F. Hackney and Dr. Roy W. McGee, Directors of the Atlanta and Fulton County public health organizations, respectively; Miss Margaret Armstrong, Mrs. Lillian Austin, Miss Inez Owen and Mrs. Leslie Taylor, of the City and County nursing staffs, and Miss Margaret Harrison and Miss Helen Connors, of the Metropolitan Nursing staff.

ILL-TIMED INSULT ENDS IN DIVORCE

CHICAGO, April 8—(INS) A 31-year-old woman who claimed her husband hit her in the face with a clock, then added insult to the injury, won a divorce Thursday in a Chicago court.

The Attorney for Mrs. Eleanor Espe said her husband, Sam, hit her with the clock when she asked for the correct time.

Then the attorney asserted, Sam remarked:

"Just what I always said—Eleanor's face would stop a clock."

Judge Joseph Sabath awarded Mrs. Espe a divorce and $25 a week for the support of her two children.

School Fund Gain

TIFTON, April 8—There has been an increase of $77,844.84 in city school expenses from 1944 to 1947, according to City Manager Frank H. Smith. In 1944 the total expenses for the city schools amounted to $63,595.23. In 1947 the total expenses increased to $141,440.07. A general increase in all expenses accounted for the increase.

Housewife's Special

BUY-LINES • by Nancy Sasser

A Weekly Sponsored Column of Things Advertised and Interesting

NEW YORK, April 9—Special for flower lovers . . . CHIFFON Soap Flakes is offering a veritable "Dream Garden" seed collection . . . almost as a gift! Send for this exclusive seed treasure trove, and your Dream Garden will be in bloom before you know it . . . masses of fragrant, colorful flowers! Queen of the collection is the "Lady Chiffon," 6-inch sensation of the Invincible Giant Zinnias . . . PLUS asters, carnations, snapdragons and other "dear-to-your-heart" blossoms! 5 packets in all! For your "Dream Garden" seeds, send 15c, a CHIFFON box-top and your name and address, to Chiffon, Box 1200, Chicago 77, Ill.

GET-READY-QUICK meals are a boon to every housekeeper, and here's my nomination for a Spring-supper special that's out of this world . . .

TOMATO RAREBIT

Place one 11-oz. can of HEINZ Condensed Cream of Tomato Soup (undiluted) and 1 cup grated American Cheese in saucepan. Heat over very low flame, stirring constantly, until cheese is melted and mixture is smooth. Then add ½ tsp. HEINZ Prepared Yellow Mustard, 1 tsp. HEINZ Vinegar, and blend well. Serve over slices of toast. (Serves 4.)

Just any kind of tomato soup won't do the trick . . . for it's HEINZ Condensed Cream of Tomato "treasure" that gives this recipe its tongue-tickling appeal! Why? Because HEINZ makes this famous soup from Aristocrat tomatoes that are garden-fresh and sweet . . . blending them with rare and special spices and thick, country-rich cream! That's why smart hostesses serve HEINZ Cream of Tomato Soup "solo" as a first course for dress-up dinners . . . and use it regularly for sauces! Ask for HEINZ Cream of Mushroom, too. So smooth and velvety and brimming with piquant mushrooms!

FOR MY MONEY there's nothing in this world quite so good as Nut Bread . . . provided it's chock full of SUN-MAID Raisins! They do something for Nut Bread . . . but only eating will make you believe what extra flavor, extra energy and extra moistness they add! That's because the natural sugar in SUN-MAID Raisins absorbs moisture gradually . . . releasing it only after the bread is done! And SUN-MAIDS add all this goodness at such a small cost! My favorite recipe for Nut Bread is on Page 9 of a booklet called "Downright Delicious SUN-MAID Raisin Recipes." It's yours FREE and contains 77 other recipes! Write to Nancy Sasser, Dept. 43, 271 Madison Ave., New York 16, N. Y.

IT'S UP TO YOU, mothers, to do everything possible to prevent your children growing up with pathetic bowed legs or knock-knees! These embarrassing disfigurements are usually the result of early diets insufficient in bone-building minerals and vitamins . . . which is why I URGE you to get COCOMALT! This good-to-the-last drop choclate-y malted food drink contains so much calcium that it makes 3 glasses of milk equal to a whole quart in calcium value . . . consequently is a valuable help in assuring straight, sturdy bones. All children love milk "party-ed up" with COCOMALT . . . so ask for a lb. or ½-lb. can!

A DELICIOUS MEAL at low cost . . . B&M New England Genuine Brick Oven Baked Beans! They make a "none-can-compare" main dish in hearty tastiness . . . yet cost little when compared with usual entree prices today! Mind you, I specified B&M . . . for while there are beans and beans, this is the kind that has the same wonderful "Down East" goodness of genuine New England cookery. Reason? Simple! They're BAKED (not just steamed) one full day in brick ovens, in the traditional "Yankee" way . . . so that the beans are pampered with the soaked-in spicy sauces and pork juices through and through! B&M Brick Oven Baked Beans come in jars or cans!

EVERY KITCHEN should boast at least one work of art . . . and I know my choice would certainly be a FRIGIDAIRE Refrigerator! It's a real show piece for looks . . . with service deluxe inside . . . Big Hydrator for fresh fruits and vegetables . . . Quickube Trays for "when-you-want-them" ice cubes! Add to all this the economy of the famous FRIGIDAIRE Meter-Miser, simplest cold-making mechanism ever made. Why not see your Frigidaire Dealer today to survey for yourself the other outstanding beauties and services of a FRIGIDAIRE Refrigerator! Made only by General Motors!

LOVE HOT GINGERBREAD? Then have the most wonderful in all the world . . . that delicious, old-fashioned gingerbread you make so easily with DROMEDARY Gingerbread Mix, at less than 4c per serving! Dromedary follows exactly the personal recipe handed down from Washington's mother. It's made from a tantalizing blend of spices and things, and of course from finest cake flour (a must for all good gingerbread), PLUS Dromedary's special, secret know-how! Here's a way to serve it, particularly for "occasions":

Add water and DROMEDARY Dates to DROMEDARY Gingerbread Mix and bake according to directions. When done, slice in half and remove top layer. Spread bottom layer with ¼-inch filling of hot apple sauce. Replace top layer and cover with whipped cream.

SPRING LUNCHEON SPECIAL . . . Cream Puffs stuffed with your favorite chicken, fish or vegetable salad:

½ cup ALLSWEET — 1 tsp. salt
1 cup boiling water — 4 eggs
1 cup sifted flour

Combine ALLSWEET and water, bringing to boil. Add flour and salt, stirring vigorously until ball forms in pan. Cool about 5 min. and add unbeaten eggs, one at a time, beating thoroughly after each egg, until mixture is very stiff. Shape on greased cookie sheet and bake 15 min. in 450° oven. Reduce heat to 350° and bake 30 min. more. Cool. Fill with salad. Yield: 12 servings.

It's that famous can't-be-equalled ALLSWEET flavor, so natural and delicately fresh, that makes these Cream Puffs so "different" in tastiness! And that's the same delicate natural flavor that adds a special touch of goodness to hot breads, vegetables and cream sauces, whenever ALLSWEET is the margarine you choose. In addition, this famous margarine is a "goldmine" of food energy . . . containing 15,000 units of Vitamin A in every pound! Why not put ALLSWEET on your shopping list today? Ideal for all cooking and table use!

UNDER THE DOME

COMMUTER FARES—The Teche Greyhound Lines Thursday asked the Georgia Public Service Commission for a 30 percent increase in commuter fares, claiming its rates now were lower than any others in Georgia.

KNOW-HOW—Students from Lanier High School at Macon studied State Government at first hand. William Crisp, President of his class, and Julius Gholson, instructor, took the group to see Phil Landrum, Executive Secretary for Acting Gov. Thompson. Some of the class visited Herman Talmadge.

Four items consumed about 90 percent of the quarterly budget. They were education, $11,627,611; highways, $5,343,302; welfare, $2,967,818, and public health, $995,550. Requests for emergency flood damage repair, 15 building inspectors and the Parks Department were not included in the budget.

This Week's Economy Hint!

Looking for an ECONOMICAL and HEARTY meat dish to build your meal around? Braised short ribs of beef with vegetables fills the bill! It's almost a complete meal in itself.

Short ribs of beef are a thrifty buy. A favorite with men who eat in restaurants, short ribs are often overlooked at home. It's a family dish they're sure to enjoy, and you can make good use of leftovers in preparing with vegetables.

Barbecued ribs are delicious, too. Tangy and appetizing—they can't be beat for rich, meaty flavor. Serve them often for variety in springtime menus!

Watch your family beam over tempting short ribs of beef—and notice how your meat budget goes further!
